MONTREAL (AP) — Two are well on the way to being fluent in each other's native tongue.

Mrs. Bernier, the French speaking partner, is a switchboard operator. She has never met Miss Sauve.

Despite her French name, Miss Sauve is the daughter of English-speaking parents.

"Not being able to see the other person, I find it easier to forget my own shyness and inhibitions," she said.

Federally Aided Hospital Given Integration Order

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government has taken broad steps to assure against any racial discrimination — "from here on out" — in private or public nonprofit hospitals accepting federal funds.

However, the new and strengthened regulations are not retroactive — and affect only hospitals which received funds since March 2 or will receive them in the future.

Opinions are being voiced — both from within and outside government circles — that a U.S. Supreme Court ruling which prompted the new action regarding institutions supported by the Hill-Burton Act may have far-reaching impact on many other hospitals.

Some hospital authorities say it's conceivable that, aside from the Hill-Burton matter, certain private, nonprofit hospitals might fall within the purview of the new civil rights law even when they receive no financial assistance from the federal government.

The Hill-Burton program, enacted into law in 1946, is the brainchild of Sen. Lister Hill, D-Ala., and former Sen. Harold Burton, R-Ohio.

Under the program, federal grants or loans are made available to assist in constructing and equipping needed public and voluntary nonprofit hospitals and other facilities.

Since 1947, Congress has appropriated annually from $65 million to $220 million for this purpose. Appropriations are distributed to the states and territories according to a statutory formula based on population and relative per capita income.

As the basis of action already taken by the federal government regarding Hill-Burton hospitals is a ruling of a U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, made last Nov. 1. The ruling was that any hospital accepting Hill-Burton construction funds must open its staff and facilities to everyone, regardless of race.

This case, now known as the "Simkins" case, involved two hospitals in Greensboro, N.C. — the Moses H. Cone Memorial Hospital and the Wesley Long Community Hospital.

A group of Negroes, including physicians, dentists and patients, brought the suit against the hospitals with the aid of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People's legal defense and educational fund. The U.S. Department of justice intervened on behalf of the fund.

The majority opinion of the Supreme Court, which would bar federal courts from considering any state apportionment cases, Albert and Mansfield agree with McCormack in opposing that legislation.

Adding to the mess is the fact that many Congressmen in both parties who have usually defended the "Warren Court" against its critics think the court went too far in its state reapportionment decision. They believe that states have the Constitutional right to have bicameral Legislatures, with one house chosen on a popular-vote basis, the other, like the U. S. Senate, differently.

Then there are those, like Mansfield, who are opposed to contesting the court's decision but are convinced that the states need more time, and so Congress should act. This would appear to clarify the problem. Due to Dirksen, it does not.

Dirksen's RESOLUTION A HOLDING OPERATION

Dirksen is most honest about his intent. He considers his resolution delaying the effect of the Supreme Court's decision until Jan. 1, 1966, a holding operation. By that he means that it will give time for Congress to consider a Constitutional amendment which would strip the Supreme Court of power over state Legislatures.

In order to understand the heart of the controversy, it is necessary to go back to the court's decision of June 15, Chief Justice Warren, speaking for the majority (the vote was 6 to 3), said that only in "the unusual case" would a lower court be justified in allowing delay beyond the next election.

Mansfield pointed out earlier this week that in some states this has caused a "critical situation." In Oklahoma, for example, where all candidates for the Legislature had been selected in primaries, new primaries now are required. And in Illinois 177 candidates for the state House of Representatives are under court orders to run at large.

Dirksen's sudden injection of the apportionment issue just as Congress appeared to be nearing the adjournment stage baffled many members. His move should have been expected, for the Republican effort was in the cards as a result of the July GOP convention in San Francisco.

GOP "SLEEPER" PLANK OPPOSED DECISION

There was a "sleeper" plank in the party platform approved in San Francisco that was almost overlooked at the time. This was natural, because attention centered on the controversial platform itself and the dramatic floor fight by anti-Goldwater moderates to write in a stronger civil rights plank and a plank condemning extremists.

The "sleeper" aroused scarcely any comment and absolutely no controversy.

Yet it was highly important and politically significant, for it put the Republican party on record, without equivocation, against the Supreme Court's apportionment decision. It pledged:

"Support of a Constitutional amendment, as well as legislation, enabling states having bicameral Legislatures to apportion one house on bases of their own choosing, including factors other than population."

So what Dirksen, as party leader of the Senate, is now trying to do—with considerable Democratic support,—is simply in line with his own party's pledge. In the process, he is, in effect, challenging the Democrats to tackle the same issue

CAPITOL STUFF

By TED LEWIS

WASHINGTON—As President Johnson has been mighty positive previously in his stand on key legislative issues before Congress, his reluctance to speak out in the controversy over the Supreme Court's reapportionment decision seems out of character.

His silence has been explained as due to his belief that the issue is a Congressional matter. Yet, up until now, he has never hesitated to intrude in legislative affairs to get things done.

As President, of course, he may not want to associate himself either for or against the present effort to override, through legislation, the court's edict against delays in reapportionment of state Legislatures on a popular-vote basis. To do so would perhaps suggest that he is questioning the co-equal status of the judicial branch, and the "Warren court" in particular.

The net result of Johnson's effort to keep aloof from the controversy has been to further confuse an already badly confused legislative situation.

It is now generally agreed that if the President had flatly opposed any Congressional resolution, such as that sponsored by Sen. Everett Dirksen (R-Ill.) to slow down the pace of legislative reapportionment, Congress would not be in as bad a bind as it now is. It could even have been possible that direct Presidential intervention would have allowed Congress to close up before the Aug. 24 Democratic convention. Instead, Congress is going to have to be in session probably through September.

The muddled-up situation certainly could not have been made any worse. Party lines have been integrated. Fifteen Senate liberals are filibustering against the Dirksen resolution, offered as an incongruous rider to the foreign aid bill. Most, if not all, of this group would filibuster against the resolution if it were considered separately.

EVEN COURT'S DEFENDERS HAVE DOUBTS

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield (Mont.) is in favor, like Dirksen, of giving the states more time to reapportion than the Supreme Court proposed. So is House Democratic Leader Carl Albert (Okla.).

In contrast, Speaker John McCormack (Mass.) is opposed to any curbs on the Supreme Court. To muddle the situation more, McCormack is especially against the bill sponsored by Rep. William M. Tucker (D-Va.), and approved by the House Rules Committee, which would bar federal courts from considering any state apportionment cases. Albert and Mansfield agree with McCormack in opposing that legislation.

Adding to the mess is the fact that many Congressmen in both parties who have usually defended the "Warren Court" against its critics think the court went too far in its state reapportionment decision. They believe that states have the Constitutional right to have bicameral Legislatures, with one house chosen on a popular-vote basis, the other, like the U. S. Senate, differently.

African Warns Against Clash Over U.N. Dues

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A leading African diplomat appealed to the United States and the Soviet Union today to avoid a collision over unpaid dues for U.N. peace operations for fear it would weaken the United Nations.

The appeal was made by S. O. Adebayo of Nigeria, chairman of the 21-nation working group which is studying ways to assess U.N. members for future peace-keeping operations.

Adebayo said in an interview he hoped something could be done to relieve the deadlock over unpaid dues for the Congo and Middle East forces.

The Soviet Union has said that it will never pay a cent toward either the Congo or Suez operations on grounds that they are illegal.

The Soviet Union and 14 other countries are two calendar years behind in their total U.N. assessments. France will reach that point next Jan. 1.

The United States has said two-year delinquents must lose their General Assembly vote automatically when the world forum convenes Nov. 10 because the charter so stipulates.

The House of Representatives and the Senate Foreign Relations Committee both adopted resolutions this week asking the U.S. government to make every effort to see that this penalty was applied.

At a news conference Thursday, Secretary-General U. Thant said he hoped Adebayo's group would meet early in September and "look into this problem from all angles."

Adebayo said there was a "pretty wide" gulf between the two big powers over peacekeeping finances and "slight differences" between various groups of countries.

"My appeal to my fellow members is that we should go to the council table not dedicated to our points of view but in the spirit of trying to look for a solution," he said.

"They should all remember that our cause is the survival of the United Nations."

"If this (Soviet-U.S.) confrontation takes place, whatever survives will be a weaker United Nations."

The 15 countries now in danger of losing their votes are the Soviet Union, the Ukraine, White Russia, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland, Romania, Argentina, Bolivia, Nationalist China, Guatemala, Haiti, Paraguay, Uruguay and Yemen. The Guatemalan government has announced that it will pay enough to get out of danger.

Bald Eagle Strikes Balding Power Line

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — A proud bald eagle swooped regally in for a landing on a power line — and wound up bald all over.

The great bird, boasting a 73-inch wingspan, short-circuited himself to death Sunday when he touched two power lines. He also caused a power cut-off for several hours in hundreds of homes in North San Bernardino, North Muscovy and Devore.

Also bald were about 10 acres of brush, ignited by burning feathers from the hapless bird, firemen said.

ONE THAT COUNTED

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Catcher John Roseboro of the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers hit only one home run off a lefthanded pitcher during 1963—but that was a three-run homer off Whitey Ford to provide the Dodgers with a 5-2 victory over the New York Yankees in the first game of the World Series.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, M.D., Ph.D.

Lorna is like many a girl who grows discouraged when she marries and faces the endless chores of keeping house. Adopt the simple plan I have recommended to Lorna, for then you start competing with yourself to raise your score and that will boost your morale as well as your output!

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.

CASE T-455: Lorna G., aged 28, is a former teacher.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "I have been married for two years.

"And I am now very happy to be a housewife, except for one thing.

"I literally hate myself for always being far behind in my work!

"No sooner do I get the dishes washed and the house cleaned up than my husband gets home and everything is messed up again.

"And I never get all my tasks done! Am I just abnormally slow?

"Maybe it is because I never was taught housework for my mother always did everything in our home when I was a girl.

"So how can I ever accomplish all the tasks ahead of me each day?

Use the "Agenda Plan."

Each night before you go to bed, make a written list of the items ahead of you tomorrow.

Include minor chores like washing the breakfast dishes, as well as major tasks, such as the laundry.

But if you are in a housecleaning mood and plan to wash the windows, don't list "Wash all the windows."

That's too big a chore! So break it down into smaller "bites," such as "Wash windows in living room."

Then you can also record "Wash windows in my bedroom."

Thus, you can cross out more items as you finish them and that will inflate your ego.

In my own case, I cross out every completed task with a thick red pencil, so it will look more striking.

You housewives should pin your daily agenda above the kitchen sink where you can view it easily.

Then, as you are finishing one chore, you can be picking out the next.

This will save you many valuable minutes when you might otherwise be wondering which task to do next.

Otherwise, you can waste a lot of valuable time trying to decide. But if you already have your duties written down and hanging above the sink in front of your eyes, you will move from one item right along to the next.

And include minor chores that may not require even 5 to 10 minutes, for when you have an interval of 5 empty minutes, you can't tackle a 30-minute chore.

"Send a greeting to a sick friend," thus will be a fitting inclusion for a 5-minute item on your daily agenda.

"Write a letter to Mother (or son or daughter away at college)," can be a 15-minute item.

But be sure to break down your big tasks into smaller units.

Instead of listing "Do the ironing," divide it into "Iron the flat pieces."

Then list "Iron hubby's shirts," etc.

For one of the most discouraging things to adults (and doubly so to children) is the tackling of big items that require hours or days to finish.

Wives, send for my "Tests for Successful Wives," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents, and use it to zoom your rating!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

10-Year-Old Found In Mountain Area

BANNING, Calif. (AP) — "I found this little spring where the water tasted just like beer — I drank a lot of it."

Thus spoke Brian Allen Cook, 10, of Riverside, safe at home today after being lost 24 hours on 7,111-foot Black Mountain in the San Jacinto Mountains.

Southern Californians, beset by a summer-long beer strike, are expected to head for the hills in droves this weekend.

Young Cook was found by search helicopters, after becoming separated from a hiking group.

$50,000 in Furs Taken by Burglars

WASHINGTON (AP) — An extensive burglar alarm system and a steel door in the back failed to prevent burglars stealing nearly $50,000 in furs from a Connecticut Avenue store, the French Poodle.

The burglars broke into an office above the store, owned by Mrs. Alvin Epstein. They cut a hole through the ceiling of the shop, lowered themselves with a rope or rope ladder, and made away early Sunday with furs valued by the owner at nearly $50,000.

Farmer Trades Tobacco Crop For Paintbrush

ROCKY MOUNT, N.C. (AP) — Nash County tenant farmer William Marlow has traded his tobacco crop for a paint brush because of crackpot letters and snubs by neighbors since President Johnson visited his family last spring.

Marlow has taken a job with a painter and his wife has gone to work in a manufacturing plant. He said he would move his family from the farm into Rocky Mount later this year.

Marlow's landlord, Ervin J. Stone, said Marlow told him last Tuesday he was giving up his nine-acre tobacco crop with much of it unharvested. Stone quoted Marlow as saying farm life had been unbearable since the President's visit.

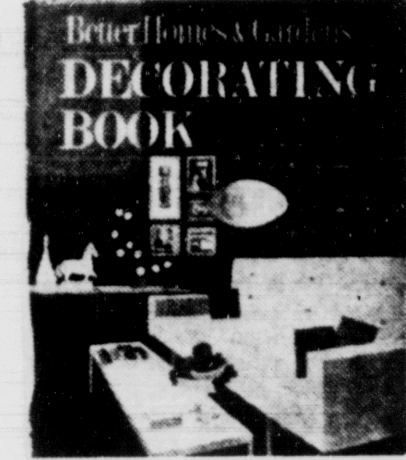

The President came to Marlow's farm on a tour of sections which might be aided by the administration's antipoverty bill.

The visit was widely publicized and came back into focus about a month later when Marlow said in an interview that he would clear more profit from his crop than the President had been led to believe.

Marlow, 39, said a flood of crackpot letters had arrived since the President's visit. He said some neighbors enraged the family by calling them "the poorest folks in the world."

To make matters worse, Marlow fell from a ladder on the first day of his new job and aggravated a back injury which disabled him in 1962. His oldest son, Billy, 19, is filling in until Marlow recovers.

LBJ's Decision On Running Mate Is Awaited

rect reference to civil rights.

The fight over the Mississippi delegation was dramatized early today when 75 Negro and white demonstrators sat on the boardwalk in front of Convention Hall and vowed to remain there until the Mississippi Freedom group was seated.

Whatever happens on the civil rights plank and on the Mississippi delegation contest, there seemed little likelihood of any significant Southern walkout. Humphrey, among others, came up with a forecast that the difficulties would be ironed out without a bolt.

Pacing along with Humphrey in the non-contest for second place on the ticket were Sens. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota and Mike Mansfield of Montana. There was also talk of Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., undersecretary of commerce, because Johnson continued to regard the late president with high esteem.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California, mentioned as a possibility, had a "feeling," he said, that it would be Humphrey. Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City said he "would certainly accept" the nomination but wasn't sitting around dreaming about getting it.

For the convention's opening session tonight, Sen. John O. Pastore had top billing as the keynote speaker. He was expected to extol the virtues of the Johnson administration and to recall some of the accomplishments of the late President John F. Kennedy.

Kennedy will be memorialized in the closing session of the convention Thursday night. But there were few traces left of the Kennedy imprint on the party among the milling delegates who barged through cocktail parties, strolled the boardwalk and even dipped a tentative toe in the Atlantic Ocean.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy resigned Sunday as a Massachusetts delegate, asking that he be replaced by Joan Kennedy, wife of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy. This action was preliminary to his expected resignation from the Cabinet to seek the seat now filled by GOP Sen. Kenneth B. Keating of New York.

Democrats generally were highly optimistic about Johnson's chances of election in November. Bailey and two former national chairmen, appearing on ABC's "Issues and Answers," forecast victory.

James A. Farley thought it would be a big one. But Stephen Mitchell, chairman from 1952 to 1955, said there is "vast unrest among the voters, they haven't made up their minds."

In their platform, the Democrats made "peace for all nations and freedom for all peoples" their overriding goal.

In pointed contrast to the Republican platform, it was learned that the Democrats planned to include a thrust at political extremism, naming as targets the Ku Klux Klan, the John Birch Society, and the Communist party. The Republicans, after a floor fight, refused to include a plank on extremism naming the John Birch Society and the Klan.

After a battle about how far they should go in pledging efforts toward disarmament, Democratic platform drafters came up with a national security section which declared that "responsible leadership, unfettered by fear, is the only way to achieve peace and freedom in a world of nuclear weapons."

This was an obvious attempt to rebut GOP platform charges that the Johnson administration had shown "weakness before communism."

The platform writers took other potshots at GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater.

At one point they said that "control of nuclear weapons must remain solely with the highest elected official in the country — the president of the United States." Goldwater has suggested giving the North Atlantic Treaty Organization commander more supervision over the use of smaller, tactical nuclear weapons.

Scouts Plan Big Round-Up To Attract More Youths

A "Fall Round-Up" to launch an extensive program of activities for the 6,000 Scouts in the Pikes Peak Region has been announced by Col. John Wear, Scout council activities chairman.

A kick-off dinner will be held Sept. 15 at the Flying W Ranch, at 6 p.m. for all Scout leaders and administrators. All 15 operating committees of the Scout council will present their program of activities to the Cubmasters, Scoutmasters and Explorer advisors at the round-up meeting.

Dr. Lee Steele, council commissioner, has been appointed chairman of the huge fall round-up for new boys. Dr. Steele stated that a goal has been set of 2,000 new boys to be registered by Dec. 15 as part of the fall round-up program.

Dr. Steele stated that approximately 5,000 boys became eligible for one of the three divisions of Scouting during the year in the Pikes Peak Council. We expect to register 2,000 of these boys during the fall months. A large portion of the remainder of eligible boys will be recruited after Jan. 1.

An extensive training program for adult leaders will be conducted in October. Harlan Ochs, chairman of the Scout council training committee, announced that the fall training program will start with the den mother's tea to be held Oct. 3 at Dublin House.

Training courses of all Scouts will be held in the three Scout districts starting the first week in October.

Col. Howard Cloud Jr., council president announced that arrangements have been made through the United States Air Force Academy Athletic Department for Cub Scouts to attend four Academy football games. Only Scouts in complete uniform are eligible to purchase Scout tickets. Boys interested in purchasing tickets for the four games specified will submit their fees to their Cubmasters, Scoutmasters or advisors.

The Academy stadium management has designated Oct. 31 as all Colorado Scout Day, which time the Academy plays from Arizona.

Dr. James Watson, chairman of health and safety announced that a First-Aid-O-Ree will again be conducted with district competition to be held in January and the council contest to be held in February.

Special Boy Scout swimming classes will again be conducted on Monday night at Wasson High School starting Sept. 28 at 7 p.m. Scouts must submit a fee of $3.50 for 10 lessons through Scout headquarters.

Major events to be held in 1966 are the Annual Recognition Dinner to be held Feb. 13 at Broadmoor International Center, and the annual Scout-O-Rama to be held April 7-10 at City Auditorium.

The 1965 summer camp season at Camp Alexander will start June 13.

District camporees will be held the first week end of May 1965.

President Cloud stated that Scouting continues to show tremendous growth in membership and parents are urged to consider one of the three Scouting programs for the leisure time activities of their sons. Many new units will be organized this fall. It is the objective of the Scout council to make Scouting available to all boys in convenient locations in the seven counties embraced in the Pikes Peak Scout Council.

The administration of the Scout program is financed by the United Fund, the 100 Club, Sustaining members, and friends of Scouting in the area outside of the United Fund territory.

NLRB Rules for Contractor in Labor Dispute tract with lathers covering all of his work and does not employ carpenters.

Veteto pointed out that hiring the carpenters just to install the studs "would be wasteful and inefficient" and that they would "have no other duties to perform" for him. He said that the installation would also sideline the lathers.

The carpenters argued that a March 2, 1964 decision of the National Joint Board for settlement of Jurisdictional Disputes awarded such work to them.

The board ruled that the employment of lathers for the work is consistent with Veteto's past practice and is "more consistent with the efficiency of the operation."

It pointed out that Veteto has no other work to which he could assign the carpenters.

"Upon consideration of all pertinent factors appearing in the entire record, we shall assign the disputed work to the lathers," the board said in its ruling. "They are as skilled in the performance of the work as the carpenters who compete for it and have performed it to the satisfaction of the employer, who desires to retain them on the job. The present assignment of the disputed work to the lathers is consistent with their collective bargaining agreement with the employer, it conforms to the employer's past practice and the efficiency with which the lathers may accomplish the task demonstrates the superior claim of the lathers to the disputed work."

Two-Car Crash Brings Injuries

State Patrolman Robert DeFelice said the Wasinger car was southbound and the Bengin car northbound when the Bengin vehicle went out of control and struck the Wasinger car on the left side.

An insurance adjuster said there would be about 1,000 claims, "all the way from $25 to $1,000."

At Taycheedah, about three miles northeast of Fond du Lac, two persons were injured when their house trailer was toppled by the winds.

Hurricane Cleo Rages Across Caribbean Area

By LOUIS ICHITELLE

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Cleo, worst hurricane of the season, raged across the Caribbean toward Jamaica today, leaving behind a path of death and destruction.

The storm swirled past southern Puerto Rico Sunday after battering the Guadeloupe islands. Officials blamed Cleo for at least 14 deaths, 100 injuries and $50 million in damage to the French possession.

Cleo will probably strike Jamaica tonight with hurricane force, the Weather Bureau said. Gale force winds and heavy rain pounded the southern coast of the Dominican republic early today. Small but powerful Cleo, with 140-mile center winds, pressed onward south of the island of Hispaniola, which the Dominican Republic shared with Haiti. Severe lowland flooding was predicted.

The Weather Bureau said that Cleo's 125-mile wide mass of hurricane force winds apparently would skirt Hispaniola's heartland. The storm was headed toward Haiti's southern peninsula, where thousands were killed last year by Hurricane Flora.

Cleo also might strike Cuba with its fury intact, the Weather Bureau said. It was too early to say whether it would pose any danger to the U.S. mainland.

Military leaves were canceled in Santo Domingo. Civil defense and Red Cross units were placed on alert. Residents were asked to remain indoors.

Cleo was centered at 4 a.m. EDT, about 125 miles southwest of Santo Domingo City, moving on a path between west and west-northwest about 17 m.p.h.

In Basse Terre, capital of Guadeloupe, authorities said Cleo was the worst hurricane to strike there since 1928. They reported more than 1,000 persons homeless, hundreds of homes demolished and thousands more badly damaged. Electricity was disrupted in most areas and roads were blocked.

Some of Guadeloupe's sugar and banana plantations were wiped out.

A U.S. Navy hurricane hunter plane with 23 aboard got a taste of Cleo's might Sunday while flying only a few hundred feet off the water. Cleo's winds disabled an engine and battered a wing.

Seven of the crew were injured, none seriously. The plane received assistance from two military craft and landed safely in Puerto Rico.

Cleo bypassed Puerto Rico by 100 miles to the south Sunday night. It lashed Guadeloupe Saturday night with winds nearing 100 miles. Fringe winds, accompanied by torrential rains, pounded the southern Dominican Republic all day Sunday.

Fears mounted for Haiti's thinly populated southern peninsula where Negro natives live in flimsy homes along the coast. Many never receive hurricane warnings.

Service Station Robbed of $112

Two men escaped with $112 after holding up Lee's Super Conoco, 1644 S. Tejon St., late Saturday night, the sheriff's office reported.

According to Deputy Sheriff Vincent Denboske, the pair approached James E. Dionne, an employee at the station, produced a gun and order him to hand over all the bills. He said he had never seen them before.

Three Injured In Two-Car Accident Today

Three Ft. Carson men suffered injuries early this morning in a two-car accident on Colorado Highway 115 at Ft. Carson Gate 2, the State Patrol reported.

All three were passengers in a small foreign car which was reported a total loss by investigating officers.

Harold Walton, 24, suffered back injuries and a bump on the head and was taken to the post hospital. Ronald Oakerson, 23, and Willie Dillard (no age given) suffered minor injuries and were released at the scene.

The driver of the car, Daniel F. Sharp, 22, was not injured. Raymond McCauley, 36, also of Ft. Carson, was driving the other car and did not suffer injuries. There was an estimated $500 worth of damage to his car.

The State Patrol reported that both vehicles were southbound when the Sharp car slowed for a turn and was struck on the rear by the McCauley car and knocked into a road sign.

Man Injured When Car Hits Bridge Railing

Benny Sanchez, 20, suffered multiple injuries when his car hit a bridge railing this morning at the Woodmen Valley interchange on U.S. Highway 85-87.

Sanchez, of 201 W. Shoup Rd., was listed in "satisfactory" condition at Penrose Hospital where he was taken by E. and E. Ambulance suffering from head cuts, a broken leg, multiple contusions of the chest and lung and possible internal injuries.

State Patrolman Arnold C. Ferrero said Sanchez's northbound car left the road and hit the bridge railing, leaving the left front fender and door imbedded in the steel. The car then rolled on its right side and slid across the road, hitting the railing on the other side. It rolled back on its wheels and came to rest in the middle of the bridge.

tional Committee as Treasurer. In that role, he was known in inner Democratic circles as "Bobby's man." The Attorney General was the real boss of the committee, with National Chairman John Bailey largely a figurehead — which he still is.

Backed by "Bobby," Maguire forcefully and skillfully reorganized the party's finances and centered tight control in his hands.

He served notice on state and local party leaders and organizations that they would have to fork over to get top-rung administration officials as guest speakers. Also that henceforth he would handle negotiations on the division of the funds from these affairs. Each transaction would be considered separately, but based on the general rule that at least 50 per cent of the proceeds went to the National Committee.

Similarly, Maguire induced the Senate and House Democratic Campaign Committees to turn over their fund-raising activities to the National Committee — meaning him. In return, he promised them $10,000 a month, and has kept that commitment.

Close-mouthed and self-effacing, Maguire stays out of the limelight. He works smoothly and efficiently at his job every day of the week, and apparently as loyalty for President Johnson as his late predecessor.

Party leaders rate Maguire the best National Treasurer since the Roosevelt regime. From the lush state of the committee's campaign chest, there obviously is justification for this acclaim. If "money talks," Maguire is quite a speaker.

STRAIGHT FROM THE TILL
Henry Ford II is backing up his announced support of President Johnson with money. The motor mogul has sent a $5,000 check to the Citizens Committee for Johnson. Primary function of this organization, set up in 1960 and still headed by former Interior Secretary Oscar Chapman, is to raise campaign funds. It will do no electioneering; just money raising — of which it already has $100,000. The Senate and House Democratic Campaign Committees are as well heeled as the National Committee. Each has more than $500,000 in the kitty — a record high for them. The Senate Committee, headed by Warren Magnuson, Wash., has decided to give each Democratic senatorial candidate a minimum of $15,000, and more later "as funds and circumstances permit." The House Committee, headed by Representative Michael Kiwan, O., will allocate its funds on the basis of "where they will do the most good," particularly in so-called marginal districts where incumbent Democrats have a tenuous hold on their state.

Youthful Mobs in Viet Nam Burn Buildings

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Youthful mobs in Saigon, Hue and Da Nang sacked and burned buildings today in the worst outbreak of organized rioting in South Viet Nam since last summer.

Several hundred students supporting the government sacked and burned the Student Union building in Saigon in a counter-demonstration.

In Da Nang, South Viet Nam's second largest city, more than 1,000 howling youths stoned a U.S. enlisted men's barracks as antigovernment demonstrations took an increasingly anti-American tone.

A grenade exploded at the height of the riot, seriously injuring three demonstrators. There were no American casualties. Another blast a short time later killed a woman.

The 30 or more Americans in the barracks fired shots into the air to scare off the demonstrators as rocks smashed windows. The mob then attacked a nearby Roman Catholic village and set a house afire. Villagers moved out of their homes to defend themselves while their women carried children and belongings to a waterfront pier.

After the fire, mob leaders called for a withdrawal. But some rioters slipped back into the village and set two more houses afire.

Another grenade exploded as the rioters pulled back. A maid working at the enlisted man's barracks was wounded and died soon afterwards.

More Americans are stationed in Da Nang, on the South China Sea, than anywhere else in the country, except Saigon.

The counter-demonstrators arrived at the one-story Student Union building in buses and three-wheeled scooter taxis provided by the government.

They waved banners and shouted pro-government slogans, pelted the building with rocks and then set it afire. Most of the students were Catholic refugees from North Viet Nam, now living near Bien Hoa, 15 miles outside the capital.

"This amounts to a coup d'etat against the student leaders," a demonstrator said.

Most of Nation Enjoys Fair Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

New England shivered in cold rain and fog today and thundershowers pelted an arc across the northern Plains.

Much of the nation enjoyed fair skies and the Weather Bureau said the outlook was good for widespread sunshine.

Hurricane Cleo, leaving 14 dead on the French island of Guadeloupe, sideswiped Puerto Rico's coast and headed toward southwestern Haiti and parts of the Dominican Republic.

Besides showers early today in Nebraska, Minnesota and Montana, rains fell in areas from southern Texas to the middle Atlantic Coast.

Temperatures, the weather bureau said, were nothing out of the ordinary.

Walkout Threat Seen Possible at Demo Convention

By IRWIN FRANK

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Mississippi Negroes said "no compromise" and Alabama's white delegates shouted "no loyalty pledge" as Democrats searched for answers to the hottest issues at their national convention.

Chances of keeping the Mississippi and Alabama disputes from bursting forth upon the floor of the convention when it opens tonight appeared slim. The threat of a walkout by some Southern delegations remained a possibility.

The credentials committee failed to decide Sunday whether the largely Negro Mississippi Freedom Democratic delegation or the all-white regulars from that state should be seated. The committee resumes today its search for a solution it hopes will satisfy Southern states and Southern and Northern Negroes.

Dr. Aaron Henry, Negro chairman of the Freedom group from Clarksdale, Miss., said the group would not take a "back-of-the-bus" compromise.

Henry was backed by Dr. Martin Luther King who said "a natural reaction of Negro voters would be to go fishing election day" if the Freedom party is not seated. King heads the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Two civil rights organizations set up vigil in front of Convention Hall early today in support of the freedom delegation. The organizations were the Congress of Racial Equality and the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

Henry and King said they had the votes in the credentials committee needed to force the issue onto the floor of the convention if the committee fails to give seats and votes to the Freedom delegation. There has been speculation that the committee, in an effort to satisfy the Negroes, would give them seats on the floor but no voice and no vote.

Henry and his Freedom party want to be seated because, they say, the regular Mississippi Democratic party will not support President Johnson, his vice presidential choice, or the national Democratic party. They also say the regular Democrats exclude Negroes from their ranks.

John M. Bailey, Democratic national chairman, said Sunday night he had not been in touch with Johnson on the Mississippi issue and had no plans to contact him about the problem.

The credentials committee thought it had solved the Alabama problem when it ruled that all the Alabama delegates had to do to be seated was take a loyalty pledge.

A thunderous no greeted this proposal.

The Alabama delegation, which got its credentials before it was supposed to, dared convention officials to take them back. The credentials were given National Committeeman Eugene (Bull) Connor of Birmingham and he refused to surrender them.

The credentials committee, headed by former Pennsylvania Gov. David Lawrence, ruled that each delegate would have to sign a statement pledging support for the candidates of the party before being given credentials. The Southerners hoped to gain the floor tonight to contest the loyalty pledge ruling.

Surgeon Donates His Blood for Negro Patient

ROYSTON, Ga. (AP) — A white surgeon and his lab technician donated their blood to carry a Negro patient through an operation.

The doctor, William C. Ford, and technician Harry Smith gave their blood when no one else at the hospital could be found with O-positive blood.

Hospital administrator G. M. Davis said the prompt action brought the patient, Mrs. Essie Mae McCurry, through a crisis here.

"We tested at least eight people around the hospital, including myself, and could not find anyone with O-positive," Davis said.

The 31-year-old patient had no pulse and needed blood immediately, Davis said, so the surgeon and technician volunteered.

Ford was performing an operation to correct a hemorrhage when the woman went into shock because of the blood she lost.

Dear Ladies:
Since we have received so many questions about removing scorch, I thought it might be well to repeat this advice.

Some scorches are impossible to remove because the fibers have been burned. If applicable to the cotton fabric, dip a cloth in three per cent peroxide and use it as a pressing cloth. A dry cloth may be used on top of this before pressing with a warm iron. Be SURE your material is color-fast.

Or: use bleach, following the directions on the label.

Or: as a last resort, "try" sanding the material "lightly" with fine sandpaper. This sometimes works. It only removes the burned fibers of the material. Some garment factories and cleaners use this method. —Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I used to have trouble cleaning the narrow space between my stove and cabinets.

I finally solved this problem with one of my husband's old T-shirts. I cut six inches off the bottom of the shirt and stretched it over the length of a yardstick.

Dear Heloise:

I pinked the bottom of my shower curtain just the way you told me to . . . to prevent mildew.

I hate you because it is still in such good condition that I can't ask my husband for a new curtain! —Elizabeth

Dear Gals:

Elizabeth evidently read the letter I wrote about three years ago, suggesting that you pink the bottom of a shower curtain, rather than hem it.

The reason for this? It is usually in the hem (where water has seeped in) that mildew and mold grow to rot the shower curtain.

But, honey, please don't hate me! —Heloise

If the plastic heels on your shoes become scuffed or scratched, try using a little bit of model paint.

It is "made" for plastic, and covers the scratches nicely.

Dear Heloise:

I thought I'd pass along a cute idea that was used at my baby shower:

The hostess made a notebook with a baby's picture on each page. The pictures can be cut from any magazine and pasted on the notebook paper. Then each guest was given one of the pages on which she wrote a girl's name and a boy's name, and the date and time of day she thought the baby would arrive.

After the baby is born, the mother sends a prize to the one who guessed the nearest date and time the baby would arrive.

I am going to send a birthday book to which I will add our baby's birthday . . . Sharon Royals

Dear Heloise:

If anyone has a cloth slipcover that slides down on the sofa, tell them to put a thin, foam rubber mattress pad (not covered with material) under the slipcover.

The slipcover will never slide and the mattress pad makes the sofa softer, too.

If it is a sofa bed, the pad can be bought to fit almost perfectly. —A Reader

CHICAGO (UPI) — Sears catalogs, a record of the changing American scene, often are used by producers of Broadway shows and Hollywood movies.

Walt Disney's studio, for example, has one of the most complete sets of catalogs. His employees consult them for correct costume of a certain year, for types of furniture used in various periods, for reference in assembling authentic period furnishings for Disneyland.

Millions Counterfeit Currency Is Seized

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Secret Service reports it seized a record $7.2 million in counterfeit currency during the year ended June 30.

Of the known bogus currency, agents confiscated $11 out of every $12 before it was passed.

Chief James J. Rowley of the Secret Service reported that agents uncovered 44 counterfeit plants and arrested 737 persons during the year.

During the preceding fiscal year agents seized only $2.8 million. This comparison was distorted by the seizure of more than $2 million in one case in California in early July 1963.

The number of cases investigated increased from 10,378 to 12,166.

Rowley said improved printing equipment has enabled individuals to turn out counterfeits more easily and faster.

Gold Smuggling Ring Smashed by Viets

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. and Vietnamese authorities said today they had broken a gold smuggling ring and arrested four U.S. Air Force enlisted men and eight Vietnamese.

A U.S. spokesman said all the enlisted men were charged with being couriers for the ring between Hong Kong and Saigon.

The Americans reportedly were flown to Clark Field in the Philippines to face a possible general court-martial. Their names were withheld.

Gold is legally bought and sold in South Viet Nam at fixed prices. But there is a thriving black market as citizens try to convert currency into gold.

Ampex Sales Up For First Quarter of '65

Ampex Corporation sales for the first quarter of fiscal 1965, ended July 31, 1964, were $32,457,000, up from $31,869,000 in the first quarter a year ago.

Earnings before taxes were $2,345,000 compared with last year's results of $2,285,000. Net earnings after taxes were $1,290,000 or $14 per share on 9,201,000 shares, compared with $1,318,000, or $15 per share on 9,186,000 shares in the previous period.

William E. Roberts, president and chief executive officer, said both sales and orders are continuing in the strong pattern of growth seen during the past several years. Order backlog as of July 31 was $38,450,000, up approximately 14 per cent from $33,871,000 at the beginning of the year.

"Planned start-up costs for several major new product introductions affected earnings growth in the period," according to Roberts. "These new products will make substantial contributions to our sales and earnings in the months ahead."

"We are on target with our operating objectives and expect gains in both sales and earnings for the year."

Among these products introduced in the first quarter were two complete new lines of high quality, moderately priced recorders for the home, a first Ampex major entry into the consumer tape recorder market. In addition, the company introduced a new line of video tapes for use with videotape television recorders; travelvision, a new in-transit entertainment service for airline passengers; and videofile, a revolutionary new document filing system which uses television recordings for compact storage and push-button accessibility.

State Crude Oil Value Drops 10 Per Cent in '63

The value of crude oil produced in Colorado dropped almost 10 per cent during 1963, the Rocky Mountain Oil and Gas Association reported this week.

The RMOGA figure was based on the annual report of the Colorado Bureau of Mines which valued the state's crude oil production last year at $110,255,919. This compared to a 1962 production value of $122,334,166 and a 1961 figure of $135,601,030.

The Bureau's report showed a similar decline in natural gas production. The value of natural gas produced in 1963 was $19,134,321, as contrasted with a $20,787,534 value for 1962 and a $23,891,115 figure for 1961.

The total oil and gas figure of $129,390,340 accounted for 38 per cent of the state's entire mineral production which was valued at $340,878,270.

RMOGA's Colorado Division Manager, Charles Henning, attributed the value decline to a corresponding drop in production. He said 1963 production totalled 38.2 million barrels, compared to a 1962 production mark of 42.4 million barrels. Sixty-nine per cent of this decline came in two northeastern Colorado fields.

The Adena Field in Morgan County showed a drop of 1.9 million barrels during 1963, while the Plum Bush Field in Washington County was down one million barrels.

These production declines reflected drops in valuation in these same counties. The Bureau valued Morgan County's 1963 production at $9,774,158. This compared with a 1962 figure of $15,923,485. Washington County slumped from $25,865,027 in 1962 to a $20,646,021 value for last year. Logan County also recorded a decline of over $1.2 million.

The biggest increase in production value came in Moffat County where the Bureau pegged 1963 production at $3,732,998. This compared to a 1962 mark of $2,865,770. Montezuma County also showed an increase from $666,720 to $1,057,251. (A county-by-county production value breakdown is attached to this report.)

Mock Civil War Battle Is Staged

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—While hoop-skirted belles flattered their eyelashes in excitement, 200 Johnny Rebs stormed a Yankee camp.

The mock battle on a meadow near here Sunday was a reenactment of a raid Aug. 21, 1864 by Confederate cavalry led by Gen. Nathan Bedford Forrest on Union-occupied Memphis.

The Rebs had the script on their side. The Yankee troops succumbed to a Confederate charge and all stopped to listen to a concert by the Ohio Volunteer's band.

Yarn Chalet Purchased By Partnership

New owners of the Yarn Chalet are James O. Marshall and Mrs. Georgine Schreiner, according to a recent announcement made by the partners.

The business, which is located at 1418 S. Tejon St., features the sale of imported and domestic yarn and also Tur-Mix, a Swiss knitting machine.

Since the grand opening of the business under the new ownership, four prizes of the knitting machines have been given away to local persons.

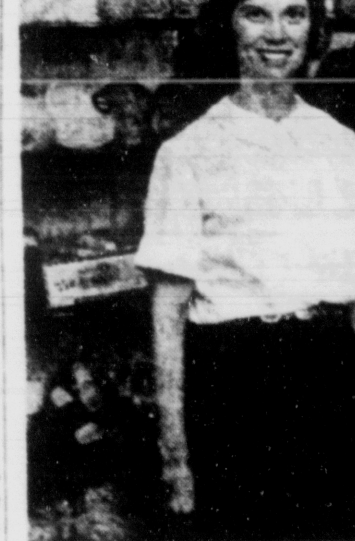

The last and final prize was given Thursday night.

The business was purchased by the partners July 6. Marshall, a native of the United States, was educated both in Canada and in the states. He majored in industrial engineering at Purdue University and was later employed by United States Steel, and the Joy Manufacturing Company. The latter employment occurred at the Michigan branch office of the company.

Marshall has also worked as a newspaper reporter in the middle western areas of the nation and was employed with the Wyoming Bureau of Reclamation for seven years prior to coming to Colorado Springs in June of this year.

Mrs. Schreiner is a native of Missouri. She is a statistical analyst and holds a master's degree in mathematics from Northwestern University. She is a former resident of Cheyenne Wyo., and came to Colorado Springs in 1963.

Gulf Oil Will Add Drilling Rigs on Coast

HOUSTON (UPI)—Gulf Oil Corp. said building of new offshore drilling facilities and recent new contracts will add five drilling rigs to the 15 the firm operates off the Louisiana coast.

All will be in use before the end of the year, Gulf said.

Gulf is building three new self-contained drilling platforms, designed for water depth around 150 feet. Another structure being used for other purposes is being made into a self-contained drilling platform, Gulf said. In addition, a new tender is being built at an Orange, Tex., shipyard for use on Gulf leases.

Gulf said that with the new self-contained platforms, drilling will be done by Brewster-Bartlett Drilling Co., Inc., at two locations in the South Timbalier area block 135 field; by Zapata Offshore Co. in the area's block 176 field, and by Reading and Bates Offshore Drilling Co. on south Timbalier Block 28.

Rowan Drilling Co. will use the tender at a drilling platform yet to be designated, the firm said.

U.S. Wins International Match

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Action got underway this morning in the World Senior Golf Tournament at the Broadmoor with the strongest field in the five year history of the event bracketed in the 64-man Championship Flight.

Today's initial rounds in the week-long match play tournament followed on the heels of a victory by the United States Sunday in the second annual Francis H. I. Brown International Team Match. The strong four-man U.S. squad, which had a slim one stroke margin going into the final 18 holes, prevailed despite a brilliant challenge by Jack Barkel of the Australian team.

Barkel, a lean, youthful appearing entry pieced together a magnificent 32 on the back-side of the monstrous Broadmoor Course Sunday to finish with a one-under-par 71. With international handicaps in force for the team matches, Barkel subtracted another five strokes and had a net of 66.

At the time Barkel turned his scorecard over to Broadmoor officials, it appeared as though his terrific effort had placed the Australians in a commanding position. His two-day net total of 137 was the best score by an individual but when teammates H. W. Hattersley and Clare Higson came in with a 148 and 159 respectively, the three-man total was not enough to hold off the well-balanced Americans.

Only the low three scores from each four-man team were used in the computations.

Pacing the U.S. triumph was veteran Howard Creel of Colorado Springs, a former National Left-handers champion and a two-time winner of the World Seniors Tournament. Creel, who was the only scratch golfer entered in the team match, followed Saturday's blazing 69 with a 70 on Sunday, leaving him five-under-par for the 36 holes. He was followed by Adrian French of Los Angeles who had a 148 for the two days, including a 76 Sunday. George Haggarty of Grosse Pointe, Mich., the defending World Seniors title, had his second straight 77 for a total of 154. French carries a handicap of five while Haggarty's is just a single stroke.

The three man total gave the U.S. a team score of 441 for the 36 holes, three strokes ahead of Australia's 444. Defending champion Japan finished at 447, another three strokes off the pace. Those were the only three teams in serious contention from the time the first few holes had been played Saturday.

Other scores were Hong Kong (475), Mexico (486), Philippines (486), Great Britain (487), Bermuda (492), New Zealand (499), Peru (520), and India (528).

In addition to keeping the Australian team in hot pursuit of the U.S. with his outstanding round, Barkel also finished as medalist in qualifying for the World Seniors Tournament which was launched this morning. Barkel had designated his Sunday round as the one qualifying him for the tourney and the 71 was one stroke better than the previous best score, a 72 turned in by Merrill Carlsmith of Hilo, Hawaii Friday.

Barkel was the lone golfer to break par among the qualifiers Sunday. Ben Cowdery of Omaha, Neb. and Ed Crowley of Los Angeles both turned in 75s and were the nearest to the Australian.

As of Sunday night there was word that Creel, who won this tournament in 1961 and 1962, would withdraw from the competition this morning. If that occurred as expected, it was to leave a wide-open battle for the title. Creel's knowledge of the course and his great skill make him a natural favorite for the crown every year.

Match play rounds began in all flights this morning, with the 64-man Championship Flight the focal point. Action will continue throughout the week with the 18 hole finals scheduled for Saturday morning.

THAT ONE HURTS—Col. Vivencio P. Santos of the Philippines grimaces as a putt rolls by the hole during action in the International Team Match at the Broadmoor this weekend. Santos, who carries a handicap of three, shot net rounds of 81 and 83 as the Philippines team recorded a total of 486. (Gazette Telegraph Photo)

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (AP)—Pat Rea of Pueblo, Colo., won the Rocky Mountain Open Golf Tournament Sunday in a sudden death playoff with Denver's Al Benefiel.

Rea sank a 65-foot eagle putt on the second hole to win the $1,000 first prize money. Rea and Benefiel had finished the regulation 54 holes with scores of 205.

It was Rea's fourth consecutive victory in the tournament held here each year. He captured the title last year by beating Benefiel in a similar playoff.

Third place was shared among Ted Hart of Trinidad, Colo., Tex McClaren of Casper, Wyo., and Cliff Whittle of Scottsdale, Ariz. They all scored 210s.

The low amateur was Duane Lehman of Grand Junction. His score was 216.

Yank Duo Face British

CHESTNUT HILL, Mass. (AP)—Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston were out to retire the trophy today with a third consecutive victory in the National Doubles Tennis Championship, facing the first British team to reach the final since 1903.

McKinley and Ralston, the mainstays of the U.S. Davis Cup team that will defend its title in the Challenge Round at Cleveland next month, will be trying to become the first team to retire trophies since Bill Talbert and Gardner Mulloy did it in 1946.

McKinley, of San Antonio, Tex., and Ralston, of Bakersfield, Calif., advanced to the final Sunday with a 6-4, 6-2, 2-6, 12-10 triumph over fourth-seeded Frank Froehling of Miami and Charles Pasarell of San-turce, P.R.

Their opponents will be Mike Sangster and Graham Stillwell, who played through a marathon day before winding up the first British team in the final since brothers Reggie and Hugh Doherty won the title 61 years ago.

Sangster and Stillwell first completed a quarter-final match against Clark Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio, and Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., winning 2-6, 22-20, 6-3, 8-10, 6-4.

The British duo then defeated two of their countrymen, Tim Phillips and Ray Weedon, 9-7, 4-6, 6-2, 6-3.

A rematch of the Wimbledon final was set in the women's division, with Australians Margaret Smith and Lesley Turner meeting Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., and Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman of San Diego, Calif.

Miss Moffitt and Mrs. Susman, who have won 16 straight matches since bowing to the Aussies at Wimbledon, eliminated a pair of St. Louis girls, Justina Bricka and Carol Hanks, 8-6, 6-1.

Miss Smith and Miss Turner defeated third-seeded Nancy Richey of Dallas and Mrs. Carole Graebner of Beachwood, 6-4, 6-4.

Ralston already has won title and so have Talbert and Mulloy. Ralston combined with his dad, Bob, to win the father and son championship 6-4, 6-4 over Graebner and his father, Dr. Paul Graebner, 6-4, 6-4.

Talbert, 46, and Mulloy, 50, won the seniors' crown, 7-5, 6-2 over Dave Perchonok of Philadelphia and Col. Nick Powel of Washington, D.C.

Rookie Candidate Would Like $1000 Put Up for Honor

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Memo to Warren Giles, president of the National League: Richie Allen, the Philadelphia Phillies' outstanding rookie third baseman, wants the league to put up $1,000 for the Rookie of the Year.

Allen, who hit two home runs Sunday in helping the league-leading Phillies to a 9-3 victory over Pittsburgh, is in what appears to be a two-man race with Jim Ray Hart of the San Francisco Giants for Rookie of the Year honors.

"There's no money in it," said Allen. "Let them put up $1,000 for the Rookie of the Year and it would be worthwhile. I have a family to support. As it is, Rookie of the Year doesn't mean a thing."

Allen even doubts if the honor would be worth a great deal when the time comes to negotiate a new contract.

"Hank Aaron never was Rookie of the Year, was he?" said Allen. "He's made a lot of money."

Allen's two homers boosted his total to 23. He also had a single and drove in four runs. He is batting .313.

Olson Meets Thornton, Friday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bobo Olson, once a regular performer on network television fights, takes on Wayne Thornton at San Francisco Friday night in probably his final fighting appearance before the TV cameras.

After the Olson-Thornton light heavyweight clash, only two more Friday night fights will be shown on home television. The contract between Madison Square Garden and the ABC network ends with the Sept. 11 fight, closing the 20-year run of network television's oldest continuous show.

The 25-year-old Thornton, who was beaten by Olson last March, gained the return bout as a substitute for light heavyweight champion Willie Pastrano. Pastrano had to undergo minor surgery.

Olson blew a title shot at Pastrano when he was beaten by young Johnny Persol at New York June 19. Instead of a title bout, he was given a non-title bout with Pastrano. Now he has to settle for Thornton.

Bobo, a pro since Nov. 23, 1945, has an 88-14-2 record, including 40 knockouts. The former middleweight champion is ranked seventh among the light heavies by the World Boxing Association, and sixth by Ring.

ranked second by the WBA and fifth by Ring. His record is 31-6-1, including 19 knockouts. He jumped high in the 175-pound division on his upset of top-ranking Eddie Cotton.

Tennis Championship

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland (AP)—Jose Luis Arilla of Spain won the men's singles championship of the St. Moritz International Palace tennis tournament Sunday, beating Torben Ulrich of Denmark, 6-4, 6-3 in the final.

Francoise Burr of France took the women's title by defeating Annette Van Zyl of South Africa 6-3, 6-0.

Rams Trade Jon Arnett To Bears for Three Linemen

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Star halfback Jon Arnett, hobbled periodically by leg injuries over the past two years, has been traded to the Chicago Bears by the Los Angeles Rams.

It took three Bears to make it an even swap.

Rams coach Harland Svare announced Sunday he'd picked up two offensive linemen and a defensive back in the trade for 29-year-old Arnett, a former All America halfback for the University of Southern California and an eight-year veteran Ram.

The three Bears are offensive guard Roger Davis, a five-year veteran from Syracuse; center Joe Wendryshski, who has played for Vancouver, B. C., and Illinois, and defensive back Frank Budka, a Notre Dame rookie.

"We're reluctant to give up a player of Arnett's caliber," said Svare, "but the trade gives us depth and an opportunity to improve ourselves at three positions." Davis, the Bears' right guard starter for four seasons, is thought to be the key man in the swap.

Arnett, however, professed no grief at the trade.

Said he: "I would have had a weighty decision to make if I had been traded to a second division club, but this is just perfect."

Arnett, once regarded as among football's best broken field runners, has had his troubles in recent years, dating back to the Rams' 1962 National Football League season opener against the Baltimore Colts.

He injured his right leg and spent most of that season on the bench. He had been the Rams' starting halfback.

Arnett hurt the leg again last year against the San Francisco 49ers. That sidelined him for the rest of the 1963 season.

This year, however, Arnett said he was "ready to go again."

He twisted his knee a month ago while running a routine pass pattern in training camp, was switched to end position as a tentative second-stringer behind left end Carroll Dale and spent his time back on the bench.

When the Rams gave the Dallas Cowboys a 25-16 shellacking Saturday night in Portland, Arnett didn't make it onto the field.

Arnett, who never missed a game because of injury in his first five years with the Rams, had been the subject of trade rumors for the past year.

He says he still thinks he's got plenty of football left in him and expects Chicago will use him as a running back in the Bear offense. It is possible, however, that Chicago might keep him in halfback position, to fill the thin spot left there by the training camp death of Willie Galimore.

Amperex Makes Debut at RMKC

Amperex, the favorite from the Joe Marino kennels that made his break-in on the local oval in 1962 and has been doing some mighty fine racing in a lot of meets since then, will make his first try in official competition at Colorado Springs: Rocky Mountain Kennel Club tonight. Post time for the first race is 8 o'clock.

This will be the second program of RMKC after their grand opening on Saturday when a record breaking crowd of 4,371 saw Cleveland's Choice, from the kennel of Mrs. Frank Hall, come from behind in the stretch to win by two lengths in the coveted Inaugural Classic. The 1963 opening attendance was $119. The mutual handle was also above the 1963 figure as greyhound racing fans had their first go at the fabulous Twin Quin being waged at RMKC for the first time this season. The Twin Quin seemed off to a fast start as the 1-2 with the 5-7 paid $944.00.

Matched with Amperex in the feature tonight are Happy Hook, Nixon Go, Brenda's Girl, Sonic Sue, Miss Whirl, Just Elmer and Resayde.

With the Twin Quin on the 10th and 11th races each night, there will be lots of interest in these two races of the fleet-footed runners with the tenth race matching T. V. Matt, On Dancer, Mogul, Justaday, Mr.

Kookie, Mc Allen, Yahola and Betty Babe. In the 11th race it is Tiny Fun, Ann Robbie, Art Tip and Careless Heart against Brookton Frosty Tip, Just Power and Cheer's Again.

The 10th race is over the Peak Course of 1,710 feet where the time record is held by Cleveland's Choice, winner of Saturday night's Inaugural Classic, where he was timed on last September 4th at 31.90. The eleventh race is over the longer Springs Course with a distance of 2,000. The Springs Course record is held by Questa with a time of 39.77 set on October 24th during the 1962 meet.

Daily Double windows, waged on the 1st and 2nd races, open at 7:15 p.m. Wagering on the Twin Quin starts at the designated windows as soon as the fifth race is run and tickets are sold up until the time that the 10th race is won. City buses are running nightly to the RMKC track from downtown Colorado Springs, reaching the track before the first race and returning after the races are over. Special buses also arrive from Pueblo and Denver.

Jones Drives Lotus-Ford to Wisconsin Win

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Parnelli Jones of Torrance, Calif., capped a most successful week of auto racing at the Wisconsin State Fair by driving a rear-engine Lotus-Ford to victory in Sunday's 200-mile of speedway type cars.

Jones, in taking his first big car victory on the one-mile paved track, pushed his racer to a Fairgrounds record before a record crowd and collected a record purse.

Jones led almost all the way and averaged 104.54 miles per hour, bettering the 104.43 m.p.h. mark set last year by Scotland's Jim Clark in a Lotus-Ford. A crowd of 38,456 contributed to a record purse of $47,275. Jones took a record winner's share of $13,840.

The California driver opened his own personal exhibition at the fair by winning a 150-mile for late model stock cars a week ago Sunday. On Thursday, he teamed with Roger Ward of Indianapolis in winning a 200-mile for the late stocks. The purse in the first race was $2,721. The prize money of $3,595 for the 200-mile also was paid to Jones, giving him total earnings for the three races of $20,156.

Miss McIntire also won the championship in 1959. Last weekend, the Colorado Springs linkster defeated JoAnne Gunderson, Seattle, 3 and 2 in the 36-hole playoff match. HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — Barbara McIntire, fresh from her second victory in the U.S. Women's Amateur Golf tournament, turns now to the Curtis Cup match to be played in South Wales Sept. 11-12.

Miss McIntire, from Colorado Springs, defeated JoAnne Gunderson of Kirkland, Wash., 3 and 2 in the 36-hole final of the 64th women's tournament Saturday at Prairie Dunes Country Club. Miss Gunderson had won the tournament three times previously and Miss McIntire won in 1959.

Miss McIntire, Miss Gunderson and Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Tex., shared medalist honors by qualifying with 36-hole scores of 151 — the first time this event has held qualifying rounds.

In their championship match Miss McIntire went four down on the 20th hole but won the next three holes and pulled even on the 25th. She went ahead for the first time — and to stay — at the 26th when Miss Gunderson inadvertently played a stray ball on her third shot from rough grass just off the green.

Miss Gunderson never caught up. Miss McIntire and Miss Gunderson were named to the seven-member Curtis Cup team along with Peggy Conley, Spokane, Wash., recent winner of the U.S. Junior Girls' Amateur; Phyllis Preuss of Pompano Beach, Fla.; Nancy Roth, Elkhart, Ind.; Carol Sorenson, Janesville, Wis.; and Barbara Fay White, Shreveport, La. All were contestants in the tourney here.

Miss McIntire, Miss Sorenson and Miss White also were named to the first women's World Amateur team. They will represent the United States in competition with teams from 24 of the countries in a match to be played at Paris Oct. 1-4.

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Marilyn Smith pulled a little magic with her putter and won the $11,000 Albuquerque LPGA pro-am golf tourney.

The talkative Miss Smith regained her putting touch in Sunday's final round of the 54-hole tourney and roared from one stroke behind for a two-stroke, 68-74-74—216 victory over Jo Ann Prentice and Sandra Haynie.

Miss Smith took just 29 putts Sunday. She said her 27 putts in the opening round Friday was her best competitive career putting round.

The blonde Kansan slammed in two birdies in the last seven holes and took only 13 putts in the last nine as she grabbed the lead away from tiny Miss Haynie.

But she missed a one-footer for par on the 17th and settled for a second place tie at 218.

Saturday's leader, Ruth Jensen, ran into putting troubles — she took 37 — and blew out of contention with five bogeys in one seven-hole stretch. She finished fourth, three strokes back, after a two-birdie surge in the last four holes.

Qualifying in Western Junior Starts Tuesday

By MORRIS FRASER
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Four of the top entries in the Western Junior Golf Tournament this week will tee off together Tuesday in the first day of qualifying tests for the match play tournament.

The meet, under the oversight of the Western Golf Association, will be held over the Eisenhower Course at the Air Force Academy. Qualifying runs through Wednesday with match play involving the low 32 qualifiers starting Thursday.

Double rounds will be held Thursday and Friday, slicing the field to finalists who will play Saturday for the championship.

Hal Irwin Jr. of Boulder, Jimmie Bullard of Arkansas City, Kansas; Joe Porter of Scottsdale, Ariz.; and Jim Wiechers of Atherton, Calif., will tee off at 8:36 a.m. Tuesday and 9:57 a.m. Wednesday in what could be a measure of action the last two days of the tournament.

Irwin is the Colorado college medley play champion. He has won the honor the last two years and won this year's title on the Eisenhower Course. He attends Colorado University.

Bullard fired a 143 in the Trans-Miss tournament in Colorado Springs. A student and member of the golf team at Oklahoma State, he has won the Kansas high school champion ship, the Kansas Junior title and was medalist in the state men's tournament.

Porter has two impressive championships to his credit. He is the Arizona high school and men's state victor.

Wiechers is one of the best choices to win the Western Junior. He was last year's medalist with a record 136 at Ohio State University. He is a former U. S. Junior champ and was upset in the first round of the 1964 Trans-Miss.

Last year's champion, George Boutell of Phoenix and runner-up Fred Ewald of Birmingham, Mich., are past the 19-year age limit. But, including Wiechers and Porter, eight of last year's qualifiers will return.

They are Steve Mayhew, Indianapolis; Jim Carlson, Hopkins, Minn.; Dave Schumaker, Fort Wayne, Ind.; Chuck Rea, Meridian, Miss.; Pete

The City Softball tourney continues Monday with two games at Memorial Park field 3 when Lorig's and the Mets tangle at 7 p.m., followed by the Benardo's-Hogans contest at 8:15. Both Benardo's and Navajo Hogan are undefeated.

Two Teams Eliminated From City Tourney

Phil Long Ford and City Utilities scored decisive victories in the first round of the Church-Industrial Softball Tournament Friday night at Memorial Park.

In the City Softball Championships, Lorig's eliminated the Budweiser nine from the double elimination tourney and the DCA Mets topped the Telephone Company to eliminate that team from the tournament.

The Lorig's aggregation downed Budweiser, 8-3 and the Mets stopped the Phonemen, 3-1. In the Church-Industrial Tourney games, the Phil Long Ford crew thrashed First Christian, 14-8, and City Utilities bombed East Methodist, 12-3.

Smith, Niles, Mich.; and Greg Pitzer, Santa Monica Calif.

Pitzer is one of the several players who could break up that powerful-looking foursome. In this year's Western Amateur at Tucson, he whisked to a 7-6 upset of Walker Cup player Billy Joe Patton.

The 144 entries toured the course today for practice. Chick Ritter, pro at Eisenhower, says the layout is in good shape, except for the No. 5 and No. 18 greens.

The two days of qualifying also will hold the Team Championships. Three to five boys from accredited associations, clubs or schools will vie for the R. A. Wood Trophy. The low three scores after 36 holes will determine the championship, won last year by the Golf Association of Michigan.

One-Armed Man Wins Amputee Golf Meet

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (AP) — Richard O'Neal of Newark, N.J., who lost an arm in a gun accident when he was nine years old in Georgia, is the 1964 national amputee golf champion. O'Neal, now 46, shot an 84 Saturday over the Winged Foot course here and won the title with a 72-hole score of 335. The 5-4, 130-pound O'Neal is a salesman in Newark.

Snappy Dresser Is Snappy Batter

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Richie Allen, Philadelphia's hard-hitting third baseman, wears orange shoes, four-button suits and sports jackets with buckles in the back.

Now he's trying to stick a couple of feathers in his cap.

A leading contender for both Rookie of the Year and Most Valuable Player honors, the stand-out dresser and outstanding third baseman belted two homers and a single, driving in four runs Sunday as the National League leading Phillies walloped Pittsburgh 9-3.

The performance lifted Allen's batting average to .313, gave him 23 homers and 66 runs batted in, and once again shot him front and center as a distinct possibility to become the first rookie in major league history to win the MVP award.

Although it may be difficult to go overboard in praise of Allen's taste in clothes, Manager Gene Mauch has had no difficulty sizing up his talent.

"He's something, really something," says Mauch. "His hands are so fast it's unbelievable. He can hit to any field and he's a pleasant mixture of man and kid."

"There's enough man in him to know what he's doing and enough kid in him so that he's wild-eyed about being in the major leagues."

Allen, whose chief competition for MVP honors might come from teammates John (All-Star Hero) Callison and Jim (Perfect Game) Bunning, hit a two-run homer against the Pirates in the third inning, hit a solo homer in the fifth and singled home a run in the eighth.

Bunning, who went seven innings, benefited from the support, bringing his record to 14-4 with a 2.17 earned run average despite being tagged for homers.

by Roberto Clemente and Donn Clendenon

The victory boosted the Phillies lead to 7½ games over Cincinnati and San Francisco. The Reds lost to the Los Angeles Dodgers and Phil Ortega's three-hitter 1-0 while the Giants edged St. Louis 3-2 in 10 innings.

In other games, the New York Mets swept a doubleheader from the Chicago Cubs 2-1 in 10 innings and 5-4 and Houston beat Milwaukee 7-1 in a night game.

Ortega, who hadn't pitched a complete game since May 19, brought his record to 6-5 by keeping the Reds in check. The Dodgers, meanwhile, scored their only run against Jim O'Toole, 13-6, in the second inning on a double by Nate Oliver and Dick Tracewski's single.

The Cardinals pulled into a tie with the Giants on Lou Brock's homer in the eighth but lost it in the 10th when Jesus Alou scored from third on Dal Maxville's error.

Alou started the inning with a single, moved up on a bunt, raced to third on Tom Haller's long fly and scored when Maxville let Harvey Kuenn's grounder get away from him.

The Mets won the opener in the 10th after George Altman led off with a double and took third on a grounder. Ron Hunt and Joe Christopher then were walked intentionally, setting up a force at any base, but Ed Kravetz ruined the strategy with a well-placed single to left.

The Cubs tried the same thing in the ninth inning of the nightcap and again lost while the Mets won their seventh in eighth games. Bobby Klaus singled and wound up on third with one out. Christopher and Altman were walked purposely, but one out later, Charlie Smith singled in the clincher.

Larsen, who hadn't pitched a complete game since July 2, 1959 when he was with the New York Yankees, allowed the Braves only five hits and retired 18 batters in a row at one stretch as the Colts scored their third straight over the Braves.

Venturi's Akron Win 'Satisfying'

By JOE MOOSHIL

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Ken Venturi's smashing five-stroke victory in the $50,000 American Golf Classic Sunday was doubly satisfying to golf's comeback king of 1964.

In addition to a $7,500 check, which boosted the national champion's earnings to $53,840, the triumph assured Venturi that his U.S. Open victory was no fluke.

The Classic was a big hurdle for Venturi. He missed the 54-hole cut in 1962 and last year he picked up a $110 check. But the long 7,185-yard Firestone Course finally yielded to him. His victory over Mason Rudolph came on a final round of 35-69 and a 275 total one stroke better than the four-round record of 276 set by Arnold Palmer in 1962 and tied by Johnny Pott last year.

"I finally figured out the course," said Venturi. "It's not how many birdies you can get but how few bogies. Once you get a bogey on this course, they keep piling up. So I tried to go as long as I could without one."

"I have now proven to my full satisfaction that the Open was no fluke," said Venturi. "I would have hated to win the Open and then not back it up."

After the Open, Venturi missed the cut at Cleveland finished fourth at Whitehaven. He sandwiched his Insurance Open victory between a fifth place tie in the PGA and a fifth in the Western Open. Then he slumped to a tie for 20th at St. Paul before the Classic.

Backing up the Open victory had to be important to the 33-year-old California native. Venturi won more than $51,000 in 1960 and picked up $25,500 the following year. Then came disaster. Because of a muscle spasm in his back in 1962, which threatened to end his career, Venturi totaled only $11,000 in 1962 and 1963 before staging his comeback.

Venturi's only bogey Sunday came on the 18th and final hole. He started the round with a two-stroke lead over Rudolph. He boosted it to four strokes as he put together 11 straight pars and clinched the victory with a birdie two on the 12th hole while Rudolph was getting a bogey.

After that it was a run for second place, and Rudolph won with a 37-65-72 and 280 finished one stroke ahead of Palmer, who had 35-64-69 and 281. Rudolph collected $4,000 and Palmer $3,300.

Jack Nicklaus shot a final 37-63 to finish fourth with 285. The $2,900 he won boosted his leading 1964 total to $99,117.

Horning Back -- and How -- for GB

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

If Jon Arnett helps the Chicago Bears as much as Paul Hornung figures to hurt them, National Football League followers can expect another wire-to-wire duel in the NFL's Western Conference between the defending champion Bears and Hornung-hyped Green Bay Packers.

The Bears hope Arnett, one-time All-Pro halfback whom they acquired Sunday in a three-for-one deal with the Los Angeles Rams, will add a breakthrough threat to their light-weight offense that was further weakened last month by the tragic death of Willie Gallimore.

Chicago's offensive shortcomings were pinpointed Saturday night when the Packers and Hornung wrecked the Bears 21-7 in an exhibition game at Milwaukee.

The Bears didn't get untracked until Hornung, showing no signs of a year's inactivity, had run for two touchdowns, caught a scoring pass and kicked three extra points for a 21-0 lead. A fourth quarter touchdown pass from second string quarterback Rudy Bukich to Gary Barnes averted a shut-out.

Cleveland ripped Pittsburgh 42-7; Washington tripped the New York Giants 27-24; Minnesota stayed unbeaten with a 24-21 victory over San Francisco; the Rams defeated Dallas 25-16 and Detroit topped Philadelphia 17-13 in other NFL weekend tilts.

The New York Jets nipped Boston 21-20; San Diego beat Kansas City 26-14 and Oakland outscored Buffalo 34-31 in American Football League action.

Arnett, 29-year-old veteran of eight NFL seasons, was hobbled last year by a knee injury but the speedster from Southern California says he is healthy and anxious to play in Chicago.

"I would have had a weighty decision to make if I had been traded to a second division club," he said. "But this is just perfect."

The Rams pried offensive guard Rudy Davis, a 1963 regular, center Joe Wendryhoski and rookie defensive back Frank Budka from the Bears in exchange for Arnett.

While the Packers were winning their second of three pre-season games and dropping the Bears to a 1-1 mark, Cleveland quarterback Jim Ninowski was having a field day against the sluggish Steelers. Ninowski, subbing for injured regular Frank Ryan, fired five touchdown passes, including a 99-yarder to rookie Clifton McNeil.

The lopsided defeat prompted a Steele shake-up. The club released four veterans — John Reger, Preston Carpenter, Lou Cordileone and Art Anderson — and two rookies — Dave Fleming and Tommy Ford.

Robinson Sure Choice for MVP -- if Orioles Win Title

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's odd, but Brooks Robinson is at his best in even-numbered years.

This year he's better than ever and has a better than even chance of being named the American League's most valuable player — if Baltimore wins the pennant.

Robinson tried to see to that, sparking the Orioles to three victories in four weekend games with Chicago. Baltimore won their third straight 7-3 Sunday before the White Sox salvaged the second game of the doubleheader 3-1.

The split left the Orioles 1½ games ahead of the White Sox, who led by one-half game before the series started.

Robinson lashed three hits in Sunday's opener, scoring two runs, and drove in the Orioles' lone run in the second game. In the previous two games, Robinson knocked in two runs in Friday's 4-2 triumph and slammed a three-run homer that won Saturday's game by the same score.

One of Robinson's three hits in the opener was a key single in the Orioles' four-run outburst in the fifth inning. It was another Robinson. Earl, who singled in two of the runs. The rally helped rookie Wally Bunker to his 13th victory against only three defeats.

Gary Peters pitched the White Sox to the second-game triumph, scattering seven hits for his 14th victory in 21 decisions. Chicago scored all of their runs in the seventh. Floyd Robinson triggered the rally with a single and eventually scored on a wild throw by Sam Bowen.

Johnny Blanchard and Mickey Mantle each drove in two runs as the Yankees continued their recovery from a six-game losing streak. Blanchard brought in Roger Maris with sacrifice flies in the sixth and in the eighth while Mantle unloaded a two-run homer in the third.

Bob Tillman doubled and scored for Boston in the seventh and homered in the ninth.

Cleveland swept its second straight doubleheader from the Angels. Rookie Luis Tiant pitched a six-hitter for his seventh victory in nine decisions in the opener. Bob Chance belted three hits and drove in two runs for the Indians.

John Romano singled across two runs in Cleveland's three-run third in the nightcap. The rally was aided by pitcher Dan Osinski's throwing error. Felix Torres homered for the Angels.

Willie Kirkland led the Senators to their second-game victory over the Athletics, lashing a two-run single in a five-run fourth inning and slamming a solo homer in the seventh.

John Wyatt preserved Diego Segui's victory in the first game, striking out pinch hitters Don Zimmer and Chuck Hillman with the tying runs on base in the ninth inning. Bill Bryan homered for the Athletics' decisive run in a two-run fifth.

Hank Aguirre won his third game of the season and his first since July 1, stopping the Twins on five hits in the second game. Bill Freehan hit two homers and Gates Brown and Don Demeter one each for the Tigers.

Tony Oliva's run-scoring single in the ninth inning won the opener for the Twins after Don Mincher tied the game in the eighth with a grand slam homer. Jerry Lumpe and Dick McAuliffe clouted two-run homers for Detroit.

Yankees' Spirits High After Weekend Wins

BOSTON (AP) — Fireworks and a harmonica were sounded without penalty when the New York Yankees left town in much higher spirits than they arrived.

"That's our little victory celebration," smiled Manager Yogi Berra when his post-game interview was punctuated by a series of exploding firecrackers Sunday. Pitcher-Coach Whitey Ford was the man who set them off.

New York had won its second straight game, 4-3, after losing six in a row.

When the Yankees hit town last Friday tempers were frayed. Berra announced a $200 fine on Phil Linz for refusing to stop playing a harmonica on the team bus when ordered to do so en route out of Chicago.

Linz announced he was sorry. Just before he walked out of the dressing room Sunday Bobby Richardson yelled: "Hey, Phil." In Linz's direction a n d sounded a blast on a harmonica he pulled out of his pocket.

"That's nothing, it'll be a regular symphony tonight when the Met fans tune up on us in the exhibition," another Yankee said.

The Yankees play the Mets in the annual Mayor's Trophy Game at Shea Stadium tonight.

Nine Are Killed In One-Car Southern Crash

SCOTLAND NECK, N.C. (AP) — Nine persons died in a one-car accident near Scotland Neck Sunday only a day after eight persons were killed in a head-on collision near Sanford, N.C. State highway patrolman F. C. Simmons said the victims of Sunday's crash included six members of one family and three others. The Sanford tragedy wiped out four members of each of two families.
The nine persons, all Negroes, were jammed into a two-door sedan which ran off a rural road and crashed into a tree about two and a half miles west of Scotland Neck, a rural eastern North Carolina community.

Steve McQueen Tells Why He Races Motorbikes

By STEVE McQUEEN
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — My favorite sport today is motorcycle racing. While I still like sports car racing, I gave it up a couple of years ago in favor of the bikes.
Sport cars become too involved and time consuming, both in maintaining the cars, and keeping abreast of the many events. To make any kind of a score or showing, it becomes almost a full time job for the participant.
Anyway, motorcycles are my cup of tea at the moment, and speaking of tea, I'll be heading to England in August, with Bud Ekins, his brother, Dave, Cliff Coleman and John Steen. Bud, incidentally, is a champion motorcycle racer, and the five of us will make up the American team, including one alternate, competing in the international six-day motorcycle trials in East Germany.
Our first stop, however, is Coventry, England, where we will spend two weeks at the Triumph Motorcycle Company's factory, preparing for the trials. There we'll tune up and practice before packing our bikes into a van and driving it to the East German location for the events that will be held Sept. 7-12.
Needless to say, I'm looking forward to this adventure with great anticipation and, hopefully, that our team will make a good showing.
Many of my friends and people I meet ask me why I race. It's so dangerous, they say. It's a sport, I say — some people like to play badminton. And, don't forget that there have been a few torn ligaments, snapped ankles and such, as a result of a vigorous session of batting the little bird around. Of course, this argument doesn't stop anyone — they usually observe that such sports can't be fatal and motorcycle racing invites a fatality every time you crank one up. This is a lot of bunk.
Any participating sport that's worth its salt involves an element of danger. Skiing, for example — I'd like to see the annual statistics for the casualties from that sport. Then there is the new craze, scuba diving which takes its toll along with swimming and others. I could go on and on about the dangers of simple, accepted sports to support my argument.

CLERGY CAN SUGGEST FOR TROUBLED COUPLES

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Pastors who are trained in marital counseling enjoy a unique advantage, says Dr. Clair Warden, pastor of King Avenue Methodist Church.
Such a pastor "not only can study the problem but also can suggest some immediate release such as joining the choir or a church study group," Warden says. "At his fingertips he has the facilities of public worship, church fellowship and the sacraments too, all of which may prove to be just the environmental elements a troubled marriage needs to get on its feet."

Goren on Bridge

Q. 1—As South you hold:
Spades, K-J-9-7-5-2; Hearts, 2; Diamonds, 4-3; Clubs, Q-8-6-5.
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
Pass 1 Hrt. Pass 1 Spd.
Pass 2 Hrts. Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A. — A prompt withdrawal from the scene is recommended. Partner would expect more substantial values if you rebid spades and might be induced to take action attended with danger.

Q. 2—As South you hold:
Spades, 9-6-3-2; Hearts, 8-7; Diamonds, Q-8-6-2; Clubs, J-5-3.
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 Clb. 1 N.T. Pass Pass
Dbl. Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A. — Two clubs. While we never originally dreamed of making a call on this hand, partner's action has made a bid unnecessary. To pass would be presenting the opposition with a clear profit and, although bidding two clubs is attended with some degree of risk, it seems at this point to be the least dangerous procedure.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
Spades, A-K-Q; Hearts, A-K-10-9-5-3; Diamonds, 3; Clubs, Q-7-6.
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 Hrt. Pass 1 Spd. Pass
What do you bid now?
A. — Three hearts. While it may be tempting to make an immediate jump raise in spades such temptation should be resisted. Repeated diamond leads might play havoc with a spade contract, whereas at hearts you could handle the force without great inconvenience.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
Spades, 6; Diamonds, A-Q-J-10-8-7-4-3; Clubs, A-Q-J-9.
Your partner opens with one spade. What is your response?
A. — Three diamonds. Unless an immediate jump shift is made, subsequent bedding problems are sure to arise. Partner needs very little to produce a slam, and the big signal should be flashed at once.

Q. 5—As South you hold:
Spades, 7-6-2; Hearts, A-K-8; Diamonds, A-J-8-7; Clubs, 7-5-2.
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
Pass Pass 1 Clb. Pass
What do you bid now?
A. — One diamond. Even though you passed a 12 point hand nothing more drastic is as yet indicated. If partner is unable to take further constructive action there will be no game.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
Spades, A-Q-J-3; Hearts, Q-8-7.

Telegram From Queen Delivered Wrong

WORCESTER, England (AP) — Alice Jenkins' special telegram from the queen didn't arrive in time for her birthday and now she doesn't want it.
Mrs. Jenkins was 100 on Thursday. She waited for the traditional telegram of congratulations from Queen Elizabeth II, but it never came.
Instead of popping it in the slot at Mrs. Jenkins' house at 14 Ombersley Road, a delivery boy took it to 14 Droitwich Road. The occupants there were away on vacation.
"They can take it back to the post office," Alice Gwilliam, Mrs. Jenkins' daughter, said today. "We do not want the telegram now, as the novelty has gone. My mother was quite upset at not having the queen's telegram on her birthday. My brother is taking up the matter further."

Pass 2 Hrts. Pass 3 Clbs.
Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A. — Three spades. A rebid of three nothump should be avoided wherever possible on distinctly unbalanced holdings. The mere fact that all four suits are adequately protected does not mark a hand for notrump. Communication between the two hands may be too tenuous to make the contract playable. Only if partner chooses to bid three notrump himself would we find this contract acceptable.

Q. 7—As South you hold:
Spades, 2; Hearts, A-Q-7; Diamonds, K-1-9-8-7-5-3-2; Clubs, J.
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 N.T. 2 Spds. Pass ?
What do you bid?
A. — Pass. Partner has not expressed a desire to have you participate. If that were in his mind he would have doubled the opening bid. Unless North is highly indiscreet he has a reliable spade suit and inasmuch as he has not been doubled there is no present danger. A bid of three diamonds appears to have no real future and might tend only to stir up the animals.

Q. 8—As South you hold:
Spades, J-6-2; Hearts, 9-6-2; Diamonds, 9-8-7-2; Clubs, 8-6-5.
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
2 Spds. Pass 2 N.T. Pass
3 Clbs. Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A. — Three spades. It is your duty at this stage to show a preference if you have one, which, holding three spades to an honor, you have. If you bid three notrump, any subsequent spade preference you give may induce partner to believe you have only two spades.

WASHINGTON — Special to the Gazette Telegraph — On the eve of the effective date for an increase in the pay of the military many are beginning to take a second look at their so-called pay raise. Beginning with those in the lowest pay grade, all will pay taxes on the increase.

Just as soon as Congress approves the new changes in the social security law, the tax base will be raised from the present scale of $4800 to $5400. Then, there is an anticipated increase in the amount of the monthly tax deducted for social security to be effective in 1965.

For those that will receive the minimum of military pay increase, 1965 may well take half of it back in the form of the two types of taxes. This situation is expected to spur Congressional leaders into coming forth with a new and more substantial increase in 1965.

Budget people here are predicting that if the present Administration is re-elected new tax reduction program may be sent to Congress early in the Spring.

The Senate has approved and

Retiring Army Colonel to Teach At Girls' School

The Colorado Springs School for Girls entering its third year Sept. 14, will gain a new faculty member who will teach mathematics and history, and take charge of the school's testing program.

Colonel Orville Rupp, retiring this fall from the U.S. Army, will become a full-time member of the school faculty. He is presently with the Headquarters of the U.S. Army Air Defense Command here.

Born in Carlisle, Pa., Colonel Rupp was educated at Dickinson College and took his master's degree in education at Pennsylvania State University. He taught for ten years in the Carlisle High School before going on active duty in early 1941.

Colonel Rupp's wartime service

COL. ORVILLE RUPP

ice was with the 104th Cavalry and subsequently with the Adjutant General's Corps. Much of his service has been with the facilities of military educational institutions including The Adjutant General's School, Fort Washington, Md., and the Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

Overseas service was performed at General Headquarters, Far East Command, Tokyo, Japan, from 1946 to 1950, and with the Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe, Paris, France from 1956 to 1959.

The Colorado Springs School for Girls, located at 26 Pourtales Road in Broadmoor, will graduate its first class in June of '65. It encompasses Grades 6 - 12 in which it offers a college preparatory program including English, Latin, French, Mathematics, History and Science.

Colonel Rupp will teach Mathematics to Grades 8 and 11 and Medieval and United States History. In addition he is introducing a course in World Geography for Grades 6 and 7. The Mathematics program in the school is utilizing the School Mathematics Study Group material at most grade levels. In addition to its academic program, the school curriculum includes Art, Music, and Physical Education for every student.

The school will number in its student body this winter girls not only from Colorado Springs but also from Denver and Boulder.

sent to the President the bill providing that a disability rating of a veteran that has been in effect for 20 years cannot be reduced.

A bill has been introduced in the Senate to authorize the promotion on the retired list to the grade of General of retired Air Force Maj. Gen. Benjamin Foulis. Foulis, born Dec. 9, 1879, first entitled in the Army, and on Feb. 2, 1901, was commissioned a 2nd Lieutenant of Infantry. He was detailed in the old Aeronautical Division of the Signal Corps on July 6, 1908, and retired Dec. 31, 1935. He served as the Chief of the Army Air Corps. On July 30, 1909 he was the official Army representative on the flight of the Wright plane at Fort Myer, Va., the result of which led to the establishment of what is now the Air Force.

The Air Force will screen 768 of its regular officers for early retirement under fiscal year 1965 White Charger program. While up to 150 officers could be retired, informal word is that only a few officers really face early retirement.

The House Armed Services Committee has given approval to the bill that would give cash awards to men in the service for suggestions for improvements and economy. The bill would place military personnel on a par with civilian Federal employees for suggestion awards. Senate may delay its action on the measure until next year.

Service families moving on permanent change of station who do so before actual receipt of the official travel orders may find that they are not entitled to travel pay. The Defense Department says don't move until you have your orders. Apparently service members getting ready for retirement are mostly involved.

Air Force selects the 145-horsepower Cessna monoplane as the new 30-hour flying phase for its pilots.

Some 6,000 Marines at Camp Lejeune, N. C., will move to Camp Pickett, an Army camp near Blackstone, Va. Sept. 1, to participate in a full-scale counter-guerrilla, counter insurgency exercise to be tagged as Grassroots-64.

The Coast Guard has new policy regarding extended active duty of Coast Guard Reserve officers. The main change is that the permissive tours of Reserve officers in a flight status may be extended to 7 years. The Coast Guard is planning to offer extension of active duty by 12 to 18 months to 20 Reserve officers in general duty billets.

Department of Defense officials are making a strong protest to the ruling of the Internal Revenue Service that dislocation allowances are taxable. If the ruling is allowed to stand it will wipe out the raise in the allowance authorized early for Service families. The Department protest to the tax people asks for an early reply to the appeal.

Some 2090 units of family housing have been eliminated from the military appropriations bill. This would limit new housing construction to 7500 units each year.

Adm. Harry D. Felt, USN retired, Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance, and Marine Corps Commandant General Wallace M. Greene Jr., will be honored by the 1964 Convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars the latter part of this month. General Greene will receive the VFE Commander-in-Chief's Gold Medal and citation "Because of his qualities of personal leadership and the able manner in which he has furthered the effectiveness of the Marine Corps as our Nation's amphibious combat force-readiness."

Army announces that 125 National Guard and Reserve officers on extended active duty have been selected for ROPA (Reserve) promotion to the grade of Captain. These promotions will not necessarily be the active duty grade of the individual but will assure them retirement in the ROPA grade regardless of whether they ever serve on active duty or not as a Captain.

Effective Oct. 1 the Army will have a new allotments rule authorizing new retirees to have the same allotments they had while on active duty. Under certain conditions allotments to cover insurance premiums will have priority.

Son Visits Spot Where Dad Shot Infamous Bandit

Frank Lamb, the son of an early settler in Fremont county recently visited the spot where his father, Joe Lamb, made a small mark in history back in 1863.

It was 101 years ago this spring that Joe Lamb, a Canon City district pioneer, shot and killed one of the infamous Espinosa brothers.

Lamb was a member of the group of men that trapped the two murder-bent Mexican brothers in a rocky gulch on East Four Mile, or High Creek, about 20 miles northwest of Canon City. Lamb was reported as having shot and killed the oldest Espinosa, and narrowly missing being shot and killed himself before the other Mexican escaped.

Joe Lamb's son, Frank, who is 84, visited for the first time, the spot where the incident took place. Frank has lived most of his life on a ranch near Texas Creek, but for the past two years has been living with a son in Littleton.

Accompanying Lamb to the site were Paul Huntly, 70, of Coaldale, Dall McCrory, 63, and Victor Miller, 67, both of Cotopaxi.

It was in April, 1863, that the Espinosa brothers went on their murder rampage through Fremont county and south Park county, and part of El Paso county. It appeared their only objective was the destruction of human life. Terror ran through the early white settlers in the region.

The Espinosas first killed a man on Hardscabble Creek, and followed that with the deaths of several others. Accounts of their murdering spree said they killed two or three persons at a time.

To this day no one has learned what the motive was for the slayings. Some persons at the time thought the family of the two Mexicans had been harmed in some way by white men, and others believed that the brothers were sworn enemies of the white man because of religious fanaticism.

Records say the Espinosas killed 32 Americans, other gringos, and Mexicans.

The manhunt in which Joe Lamb was a part, started after the Mexicans had killed a man in south Park County. Lamb was 27-years-old at the time.

The large party of men from the Canon City area trailed the Espinosas to the headwaters of Oil Creek, following it down to about 20 miles of Canon City.

In a gulch where a tributary of Oil Creek flowed, the party trapped the Espinosas. Lamb shot the larger Espinosa in an exchange of gun fire.

One of the Espinosas escaped. The dead man was left where he had fallen. Soon after it was reported that a cousin joined the remaining brother, and the terror continued until later in the year when a man named Tobin was credited with the slaying of the two.

The area where Lamb shot and killed Espinosa 101 years ago is still isolated. It can only be attained by a jeep road, and a one-half mile hike through rugged terrain.

For Frank Lamb, the trip brought back memories of stories told to him by his father many years before.

$300 in Cash Taken From Till At King Sooper

Cash amounting to approximately $300 in $20 bills, was reported missing Saturday morning from a cash register at King Sooper shortly after two men had requested the checker to locate a "new brand of cigarettes" which were never located.

Discovery that the money was missing was reported to City Police by Bill Stiebens, manager of the store.

The checker on duty, Oma N. Smith, discovered the compartment where the $20 bills were kept was empty shortly after she had waited on two men who had asked for the cigarettes.

She said she had noticed that the cash drawer was about half open when she turned to look for the cigarettes. When she turned around the cash register drawer was all the way open and the $20 bill compartment was empty.

The two men left by way of the south entrance door without making a purchase, police reported.

Man Held In Probe of Robbery Here

A 21-year old man was in police custody this morning for investigation of aggravated robbery. Police found the victim of the robbery in an alley. He is Philip Harper Landes, 38, of 1813 Northview Dr., who was taken to St. Francis Hospital with cuts on his left hand and wrist and severe bruises on his face and upper chest. He was admitted for observation.

Police found Landes lying near his car in an alley in the 100 block of S. Wahsatch Ave. early Sunday morning. Landes told officers a man he had met in a bar beat him up, cut him with a knife, and stole $45 from him.

A suspect was arrested in the downtown area a short time later by police who said he answered the description furnished by Landes.

In another case reported by police this morning, a mink jacket, blouses, skirts, and other clothing was stolen from the car of an out of town couple.

Fred E. Stern of Minneapolis, Minn., told officers his car was broken into over the weekend while it was parked in the 90 block of S. Wahsatch Ave.

MARATHON WINNER—Don Lakin, of Pawnee Rock, Kan., winner of the Pikes Peak Marathon Sunday, gets an assist from Bob Young of Manitou Springs as he crosses the finish line at end of 26-mile, 385-yard run in time of 4 hours, 3 minutes, 33 seconds. He made an ascent record of 2 hours, 29 minutes, 50 seconds.

College Student Wins Peak Marathon Sunday

Don Lakin, 20, a Ft. Hays College student, won the ninth annual International Pikes Peak Marathon Sunday in 4 hours 3 minutes 33 seconds in his first assault of the mountain. Although he did not break last year's record of John Rose, 4 hr., 1, 22.9 seconds for the 26-mile 385-yard grueling event, Lakin hung up a new ascent record of 2 hours, 29 minutes, 50 seconds which was 1 minute, 38 seconds faster than Rose's.

It is believed by Rudy Fahl, manager, that this remarkable record will stand a long time. It took four years before Lou Willie's ascent record of 3 hours, 55 seconds, made in 1936, was broken. Actually two ascent records were broken by the Pawnee Rock, Kan., youth. He ran to Barr Camp in 1 hour, 10 minutes, which is 7 1/3 miles from the Cog Railroad depot on the Barr Trail.

John Ray Rose followed Lakin to the summit of the famous 14,110 foot mountain in 2 hours, 41 minutes, 42 seconds but could not overcome him on the down stretch. Rose was clocked at 4 hours, 17 minutes, 33 seconds.

Also in his first race, Gary K. Pierson of Colorado Springs, made an excellent showing and came in third at the summit in three hours, 1 minute, 42 seconds, and at the finish line at Ruxton and Manitou Avenues in 4 hours, 42 minutes.

Hubert Morgan, 42, was close on his heels in 4 hours, 43 minutes, 29 seconds.

When the gun was fired by Starter Jimmy Donohue, at 7:30 a.m., it was a pleasant 65 degrees, but at the summit it was a cold 20 degrees at 10 o'clock. At the finish line it had warmed to 80 degrees at noon. There was a gentle breeze on the mountain and Barr Trail was in good condition.

Twenty-four were on the starting line and 16 finished in the senior division. In the classification under 16 years of age three made the ascent. First was Peter Cornell, 12, in 4 hours, 59 minutes, 58 seconds; second, Jimmy Dwyer, 12, 6 hours, and third Daniel Dwyer, 6 hours, 11 minutes.

Trophies and medals were awarded at Soda Springs Park by Jimmy Donohue who was honored for his accomplishment in winning second place in the first race to the summit on June 28, 1936. His time was 3 hours, 24 minutes, 35 seconds. He has been an official of the foot race every year but one. Donohue first presented a trophy to Mary Guinn Felts for

German Journal Carries Article By CC Professor

Prof. J. Glen Gray, chairman of the department of philosophy at Colorado College, is the author of an article in the current issue of Die Padagogische Rundschau, Germany's leading education journal.

Professor Gray's article, entitled "Dilemma of Educational Democracy: Equality of Opportunity and Individual Excellence," was the lead article in the German journal.

In the article, he warns that continuation of the narrow emphasis on excellence in education could lead to an "elitist mentality" in the United States. He went on to say that this could be prevented by stressing excellence in character and personality.

The article was delivered by Professor Gray during the summer of 1963 as a lecture at the Universities of Conlenz, Freiburg, and Marburg in Germany.

Burglars Take Liquor, Beer

Burglars stole a quantity of liquor and beer worth a total of $63.96 from Patterson's Liquors, 2346 E. Highway 24, the sheriff's office said Sunday.

Deputy Sheriff Ray Carey said entry was made by forcing the front door.

Unionism in Theory

Sometimes, when unions are being discussed, some of our young men and women right out of college come forward with this kind of argument. They say that unions have a "right" to exist and that men have a "right" to join a union.
What they really mean, of course (and further discussion elicits the truth), is that men have a right to join any organization they wish to join. Further, any organization has an acceptable rationale for existence provided its members want it to exist.

These young college people are talking and thinking in the realm of theory and are not actually thinking about the nature of labor unions specifically.

In such a discussion they are simply equating a union with any other organization: the Lion's Club, the Women's Sewing Circle, the Chowder and Marching Nomads. And so on.

It does no good to place a union in the same category as the other societies named nor hundreds of others which could be named. Unions don't belong there. While it is true that in theory a union could be a constructive organization, the fact is that no union within the framework of the AFL-CIO is a constructive organization. For its function, however it is described, is to use force, or the threat of force, to wrest from the market more than its members could earn by honest effort.

We will contend that while it may be true that a man has a right to join any organization he pleases in general, we will contend that he can have no right to join an organization which is coercive at its roots and has no reason for existence save to enforce its will by violence or intimidation on harmless and constructive people. And that is the full history of the union movement.

Show us any union organized within the monopoly-seeking AFL-CIO. The union is organized to sow discord and inharmonious, to force wages above the market level, and to injure and distort the capitalist system of economy which is predicated on the private ownership and management of the tools of production and distribution.

Let us continue with theoretical unionism. Do men have a right to bargain collectively? Certainly, they have a right to make the attempt. Further, if management wishes to deal with them, such a right would exist for management, too.

However, we will point out that if management agrees to bargain collectively on a voluntary basis, management is lacking in managerial skills. Its willingness to treat all union members the same way (collective agreements) is a major injustice to its superior workers. Yet this is the standard tool of all unions, to compel some kind of collective agreement.

If management accepts the idea of a wage boost for everyone in a plant or in a department of a plant, this means that many men who do not deserve an increase will get one. This is a major injustice to those who deserve a great deal more than they are getting and who, now that a collective agreement has been found, will, of necessity, get less than they would in a free market.

If workers agree to accept the principle of collective bargaining, these workers are likewise cutting their own throats and agreeing to second best. While they may have a right to do so, they are very foolish in insisting on such a right.

They are actually agreeing to injustice in advance. The better workers will get less than they should; the worse a worker is, the more he will be benefited by any collective action affecting his pay or his working conditions.

In the end, collective bargaining injures customers and the entire economy. It reduces competition for jobs, rewards the undeserving, guarantees that the item in production will be less satisfactory than it could be; that it will cost more; that business will not prosper as well as it could.

In the end, collective bargaining cuts profits, raises costs and creates unemployment by forcing up the price paid for labor. Collective bargaining is the very core of economic injustice. While a person may have a right to be wrong, he has no right to force his wrong procedures on others.

Difference

The difference between a Chinese cooley and an American truck driver is the truck.

The Strike and Boycott

The major weapons of trade unionism in this country have been the strike and the boycott. Each of these procedures has two steps. The first step in each case is legitimate and entirely proper.

If men get together within a given business or industry and make demands that management will not meet, then these men have a right to quit work. Any other interpretation would lead to the concept that management could force men to work against their wills. This would be abhorrent and absolutely wrong. Men must have a right to quit work if they want to quit. They would have a right to quit work individually, or in a group if such group action pleased them.

Of course, they would not have a right to quit work in violation of an existing contract, in writing or existing by mutually implied consent.
If men are under contract to work up to a certain date, they are obligated to work up to that date. If men have no such contract, but nonetheless are being paid on a weekly, monthly, or annual basis, it behooves them to complete their period of employment before they quit work, either singly or in a mass.

Further, they would have no right to quit without notice, any more than the employer would have a right to terminate employment without notice. The length of the notice required would, in each case, depend on the type of contract in force or the type or length of pay period.

But there is no reason at all to prevent them from quitting, assuming their contractual obligations have been fulfilled. Freedom would depend on their ability to quit work for any reason or for no reason at all.

But the strike is not merely a general cessation of work. The strike includes step two. In this second step, a picket line is formed and other men who may want to work at the terms and conditions management can offer, are kept from work by force and intimidation. The real problem of the strike is that the men do not quit. They will not work, but they believe they have a right to hold onto the job without working at it.

What about a picket line? Is such a procedure within a moral framework of behavior? Certainly it is, within limits. If a few men want to picket an industry, and in process urge men not to take jobs therein, that is their right. They can urge any kind of behavior they wish to recommend.

But if masses of men get together to block an entrance, to create an atmosphere of riot and chaos; if they intimidate, or actually employ physical force to prevent entrance to the plant, there is no justification whatever for this procedure. This is the part of any strike that is wholly improper. Yet, this is the weapon used by unions.

Of course, the right of the property owner appears here. If the owner of the sidewalk or road on which pickets appear has no objection to pickets, then they may rightfully display their

Question Box

Question No. 573: "How can a group which has no wealth and creates none have a successful war on poverty?"

Answer: It cannot. Only those who create wealth can be successful in helping to reduce poverty. Thus, every man or woman who works and produces wealth is helping to reduce poverty. Every man who saves and puts his wealth into tools which enable workers to produce more of the comforts of life and thus earn more is helping to reduce poverty.

Undoubtedly, the administration merely wants a popular slogan. Every rational man is against poverty. But if the administration can make the public believe that only they have some means of reducing poverty then they will get the votes. We believe it is nothing but a stupendous humbug. And if the people fall for it, it is evidence that many, many people are gullible and believe only what they would like to believe is true instead of what reality is true or fact.

Instead of the government reducing poverty by their "war," they are only increasing it. But the demagogic men like Johnson and his followers will promise anything in order to get votes and keep themselves in power. It makes little difference to them if they increase poverty if in so doing they keep power in their own hands. It is hard to conceive that they are so stupid that they cannot see what they are doing. We can only conclude they are hypocrites as we cannot see how they are so stupid as not to realize that the state, instead of protecting private property, is actually keeping wealth from being created.

When the state claims to protect property when it couldn't even protect the life of Kennedy, which was the principal property he had, it is evidence how inefficient government is in respecting private property. If it cannot respect private property it cannot have a successful "war against poverty."

The Local Scene

Silver Heels

By RUFUS L. PORTER

Since mentioning a gal named "Silver Heels" and a mountain named for her by the old timers in one of my columns recently, I have decided to share with my readers a ballad I wrote about them a few years ago and which appears in my book, "The Fiddler from Wilson Creek, and Other Western Ballads." Mount Silver Heels stands near Fairplay, a town that appeared on the scene a couple of years later than Buckskin Joe. Anybody in Fairplay can point out the mountain that "was named after a dance hall girl." Fairplay itself was so named by a tough old prospector who, after shooting a couple of claim jumpers, exclaimed, "There's gon' to be fair play in this here camp."

The ballad, entitled "Silver Heels," appears below. It is a true story. In the golden days of long ago, In the famous camp called Buckskin Joe, Lived a maid all men were proud to know And her name was Silver Heels. Her smile was ever bright and cheery Her dancing feet were never weary, And she sang like a sweet canary.

The lovely Silver Heels. Her face was her fortune and her feet, Wearing their silver slippers neat. At dancing there were none could beat The sparkling Silver Heels.

She danced by night and slept by day And often accepted a miner's pay, But her heart was glad and her life was gay, Gay as her silver heels. What though her morals weren't too good? Many of the new-rich miners would Gladly have married her if they could, The darling Silver Heels.

They named a mountain for her after They recalled her happy laughter—A mountain high as Heaven's rafter Is now Mount Silver Heels.

while we might question the reason, we could not favor restraint of such practices. And occasionally, in recent years, unions have confined themselves to these practices.

However, unions are after results. And were the strike, picket line and boycott to be conducted without violence or the threat of violence, we suspect that they would be largely ineffective. Indeed, employers could, and probably should, begin by educating people to cross picket lines at every opportunity; to patronize struck plants; to ignore union publicity which is almost invariably filled with distortion, if not outright misstatements.

Freedom to produce, to work at a job of one's choice, to bargain individually for the best wage one can command; these precious freedoms are dependent upon individual initiative and individual responsibility. The union provides merely an intimidatory framework within which business and industry suffer, with the ultimate result that all the rest of us suffer, too. Factually, there is no useful and constructive role for unions to play.

When individual workers realize this fully, they will quit the union (they have as much right to quit the union as to quit a job) and the problem will disappear.

ABSENTEE BALLOT

To the Editor: I write to you in hopes that you may be of assistance in a routine but very important matter. That is the subject (and object) of voting by absentee ballot.

I am in the army and stationed in Korea. During the past few weeks this subject has been paramount in my mind.

The absentee ballot system is usually adequately covered by unit voting officers but I've run into a bit of a snarl. In the last presidential election I was registered in the State of Michigan but the registration is no longer valid as one is required to vote in the off-year elections to maintain the valid status. Being in service, my stay in any one place is usually transitory so I didn't feel that it would have been ethical, to say the least, to vote either for or against issues of which I'd be neither beneficiary or victim as the case may be.

My state of birth is Vermont but all ties that should be taken into account in voting judgment were severed long ago. I am presently single and consequently have no established permanent residency. I was informed by my voting officer that I could not doubt vote absentee through the State of Vermont but here again I feel that it would be more of a "mechanical obligation" rather than a citizen's privilege.

Without going too deeply into personal values and philosophical motivations, allow me to state a resume of events leading up to this request.

I was stationed at Ft. Carson for about 20 months prior to my present overseas assignment. After my first few weeks there I decided that I would like to live in Colorado. My tour of duty there was the most rewarding and pleasant of any that I've experienced in 17 years' service. I mean this in reference to all aspects of what is important to me, i.e., the natural beauty, the people in general; and, although not extensive, my dealings with the local business people of Colorado Springs left very little to be desired.

Just before departing Colorado for Korea, I contacted the county clerk in reference to registering to vote. I was informed that six months' residency was required. Ft. Carson excepted. I had lived off post for four months and was disappointed to learn that I was two months short of the required six. However, some time after this, I recalled having worked and lived at the Tracy-Lynn Motel on Brookside Ave. for two months. Time did not allow a return to the county clerk to register but I attached no great importance to this as I felt I could register through normal absentee channels. Recently, I had occasion to read a pamphlet concerning absentee voting laws which stated that one year residency is required. There is an obvious conflict somewhere and as I'm presently attending a communications school I'm not free to run down the facts. I would be very grateful if you could determine what is actually required and inform me of same along with any other pertinent information.

Contrary to good diplomacy I'm asking to put all my "begs in one ask" and further ask if you could give me the address where I could contact someone who is close to the management of Mr. Goldwater's campaign in Colorado. Diversified news is conspicuous by its absence here as the Armed Forces Korean network and the Pacific Stars and Stripes are the only daily news channels available. Along that same line, would you tell me what the cost of three months air mail delivery of the daily Gazette Telegraph would cost? Mailing by boat requires three to four weeks for delivery and would be pointless for keeping abreast of the coming campaign.

Conventionitis

By FRANK McDONOUGH, JR.

As this is written one of the big conventions is past history and the other one is coming up. These have developed into mere showmanship. The Republicans have developed some rather artificial contests in order to stir excitement.

The result was as expected and due to almost perfect organization. The result at Atlantic City is a dry and foregone conclusion. There is really nothing for the delegates and visitors to do but get drunk, and they will no doubt do this in fine style at Atlantic City.

As a matter of fact, the Atlantic City convention will be a whirlpool of Fratric Frontiersmen. The head man is already running scared. One of the most attractive features of a convention of Democrats has been the suave and eloquent speeches from Southern delegates. These voices have now either been stifled or chilled. What the South will do at election time is a mystery. The die-hard rebels will have to change their complexion for the first time in a hundred years or vote as the Negroes vote. It may be that the South will use a swelling Negro vote to their own advantage or break away from tradition, vote Republican, and then at last the South will have risen again. It will be interesting to watch the final outcome. It would also be interesting if Governor Wallace should happen to be Secretary of State in a Republican regime or perhaps ambassador to the court of Saint James. There are many such possibilities coming up in the next three months.

In the meantime, it will be interesting to note how New York will take to the intrusion of a Massachusetts citizen as senator, or how California will support a non-resident for their seat in the Senate.

All in all, the convention struggles will be rather tepid. The election results will go right down to the wire and it may be that they will be closer than you think.

On the Defensive

By WILLIS E. STONE

On Independence Day we were reviewing the political forces at work in colonial times which made the DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE so essential to a free and independent people. In the discussion, a question developed — "Why is freedom always on the defensive?"

Possibly the attacks upon freedom result from the fact that it is the most dynamic force on earth. Hate, fear, greed, and even ambition, seek to control or divert equality and justice which constitute freedom. The desire for preference, privilege, to take from others some of their abundance however meager it may be is the stuff that feeds opposition to freedom.

The forces which produced the Revolutionary War demonstrated this concept. Here were a people who wanted to be left alone to develop their own resources, industry and improvement. They were content to live and let live. They had the capacity to band together to defend that concept.

The bill of particulars spelled out in the Declaration of Independence stipulated the causes for which they fought, causes which are essential parts of the thing we call freedom. Read the Declaration again. You will be impressed, because it has the sound of current events.

In 1776 it was the king who had been responsible for the attacks upon the freedom of the people. Today we charge the encroachments upon Americans to the bureaucrats, or government.

The "Declaration" charged the king with 1) refusal to assist in the defense of the colonies, 2) prohibiting representatives, or governors, to pass or apply needed laws, 3) compelling people to relinquish the right of representation, as in present day reapportionment, 4) made judges (quoting from the Declaration) "dependent on his will alone," 5) "erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people and eat out their substance," 6) rendered the "military independent of and superior to the civil power," 7) "combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution," 8) "cutting off our trade with all parts of the world," 9) "imposing taxes upon us without our consent," 10) "depriving us in many cases of the benefits of trial by jury," 11) "taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering fundamentally the forms of our government," 12) "suspending our own Legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever," 13) "excited domestic insurrection amongst us."

In summary the Declaration of Independence asserts that "in every stage of these oppressions we have petitioned for redress in the most humble terms: Our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury."

Such were the injustices which made the war for independence so necessary. They have many parallels today. The very evils against which the colonists fought are again imposed upon us.

Fortunately the founding fathers established the Constitution to strictly limit the powers of government to specifically enumerated powers and provide us with an enduring defense against encroachments. By employing this citadel of our defense we can again make freedom the dynamic force it should be by restoring the force and effect of the Constitution. This is the purpose of the Liberty Amendment. It is now pending in Congress as H.J. Res. 23 and has already been passed by seven states. To know its value to you write Liberty Amendment Committee, 6413 Franklin Ave., Los Angeles 28, Calif.

Pan American Airways Face Strike Threat

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union plans to strike Pan American World Airways at midnight tonight unless marathon negotiations in Washington achieve a breakthrough.

Sunday night the union postponed the strike for 24 hours after an appeal by President Johnson, according to Bob Batting, vice president of Local 500.

Pan Am officials were unavailable for comment.

The airline flies about 17,000 passengers daily to and from the United States. Main ports of entry are Miami, New York, San Francisco and Houston.

The union and the company have been negotiating about four months on wages, hours and working conditions.

When mediation failed, the Railway Labor Act was invoked and a 30-day cooling-off period began July 24.

Both sides met all day Sunday with federal mediator Francis A. O'Neill in Washington.

About 12,000 members of the union work for Pan Am. Members include maintenance and ground service employees, flight stewards and stewardesses.

The union is asking a general 15 per cent increase in wages. The present scale is $2.73 an hour for ground service employees; $3.34 for maintenance personnel.

There was no immediate word on whether the airline would try to operate if the union strikes.

Co-Ed to Study How to Become Police Woman

By THOMAS J. MOORE
CHICAGO (AP) — Co-eds who are wont to calculate the male-to-female ratio might envy Virginia Rakocinski's situation: 300 to 1 and she's the one.

But the subjects she studies are a far cry from the usual coed fare — jujitsu, narcotics, criminal law and pistol shooting.

Despite the ratio, she hasn't been dating. "I'm here to study," she said, "besides, don't forget many of the men are married."

MOVING
Call Cowen
632-7694

Miss Rakocinski, 24, of suburban Evanston, is enrolled in the Chicago police training division's 13-week course with 300 men.

The attractive brunette is the first woman to go through the course with men.

Female trainees usually attend the school in a separate class. This time Miss Rakocinski was the only girl candidate and it was judged impractical to set up a special class for her.

She already has met one challenge: she topped 42 applicants to win a policeman's job on the Skokie police department. Skokie is a suburb served by the Chicago police training school.

A graduate of Mundelein College in Chicago, with a degree in chemistry, Miss Rakocinski quit a job in the radioactive research department of a Skokie pharmaceutical firm.

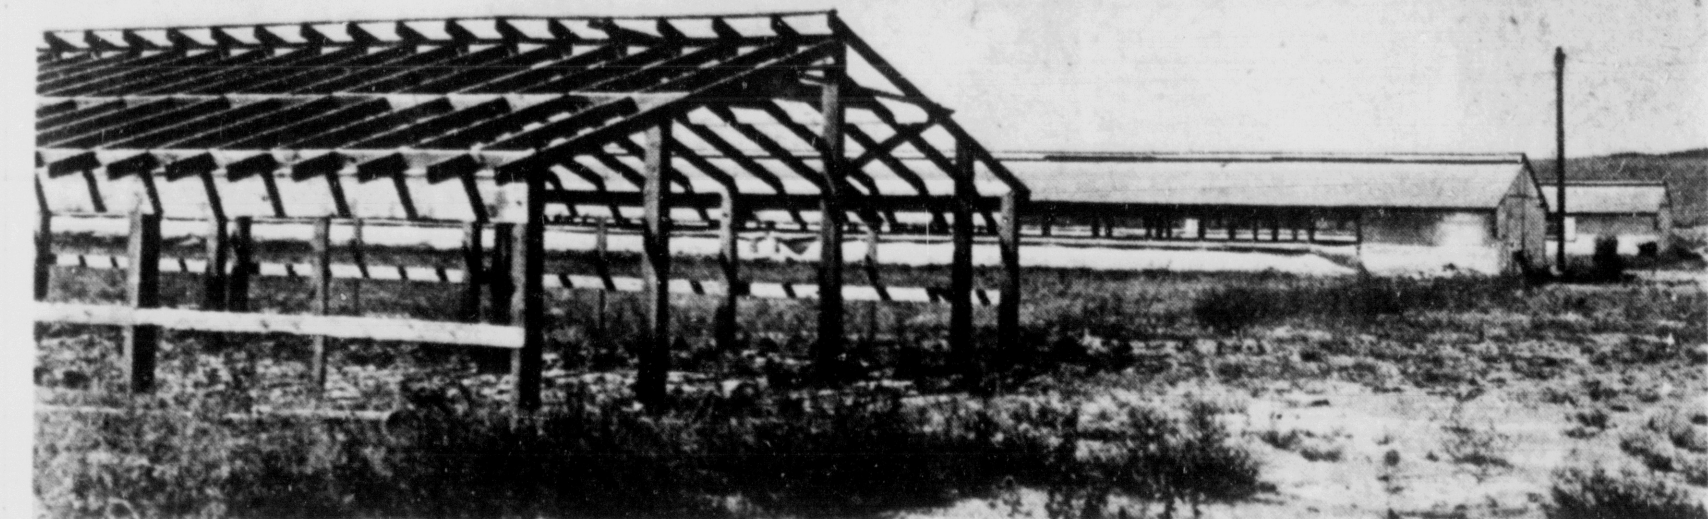

When she completes her training, Miss Rakocinski says she wants to work with juvenile delinquents and other young people.

Physical training is the only class she doesn't attend with the men. She does, however, participate in the male jujitsu classes.

Lt. John Childs, head of the Skokie police department's administrative division, said: "She's getting good grades and doing better than average on the pistol range."

"The only thing odd about her as a trainee, frankly, her long hair," an academy spokesman said.

EGG RANCH COMES BACK—These new buildings at the S&M Egg Ranch on the Templeton Gap road northeast of the city are being erected at an estimated cost of $50,000. The new buildings constructed on the site of a devastating fire in 1962 will now be able to house

80,000 Hy-Line breed chickens. The ranch is owned by Paul C. Jameson Jr., owner of the Jameson Hatchery in Englewood. The company has been in operation for 42 years at the Englewood plant and in Colorado Springs for the past seven years.

Devils Tower Is Climbed For First Time

DEVILS TOWER, Wyo. (AP) — The rugged east face of Devils Tower, a spire of solid rock in northeastern Wyoming, has been climbed for the first time.

Royal Robbins, 29, of Berkeley, Calif., and Pete Robinson, 21, a student at Colorado State University in Fort Collins, scaled the tower in a 10-hour climb last week.

Robert Murphy, superintendent of Devils Tower National Monument, said there had been only two previous attempts to climb the so-called window route along the east face. Both failed.

Rain and sleet during the final two hours made the hardest part of their climb even more difficult. Robbins and Robinson edged their way over a 15-foot overhang near the top of the tower under adverse weather conditions.

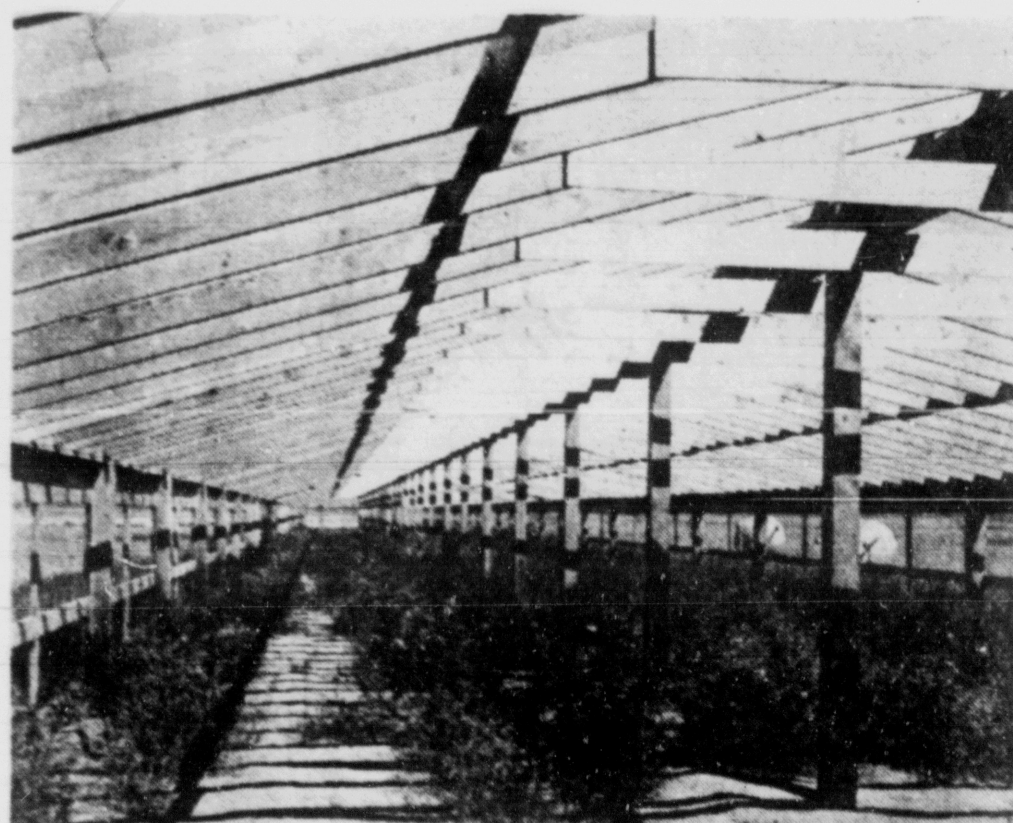

Robbins is a ski instructor at Donner Pass in California during the winter. He is recognized as one of the top mountain climbers in the country.

The east face which the two men climbed is a sheer rock cliff about 850 feet high.

Devils Tower, the country's first national monument, is a huge rock tower rising 1,200 feet above the river bed 21 miles northwest of Sundance.

Moscow Reports Shortage of Beer

MOSCOW (AP) — It's sad but true. There's a beer shortage in Moscow.

"People are wandering around looking for beer," said a reporter for the newspaper Moskovskaya Pravda.

What's the trouble? Moscow's four breweries aren't brewing enough and what is brewed isn't all taken, says the paper.

Beverages are sold at 9,500 places in Moscow but only 92 sell beer in addition to 105 beer wagons.

What Moscow really needs, the paper adds, is 300 or 400 stores that stock beer.

Ranch Makes Comeback With New Set of Buildings

By DICK MOORE
Gazette Telegraph Business Editor

The S&M Egg Ranch, Inc., six miles northeast of Colorado Springs on the Templeton Gap Road, is making a comeback from its devastating fire of 1962 by the construction of two 12,800 square foot growing houses and 10, 2,000 square foot range shelters. Total cost of the construction is estimated at $50,000.

The ranch will now be able to grow 80,000 pullets at a time while also operating as a hatchery. Previously the ranch operated as a hatchery.

The ranch is owned by Paul C. Jameson Jr., owner of the Jameson Hatchery in Englewood, who purchased it in December, 1956. At that time 11,500 baby chicks were delivered to the ranch to start operations. The Jameson Company has been in business in Denver for 42 years.

Hy-Line breed chickens are produced by the hatchery for distribution in Colorado, New Mexico, Wyoming and Montana. The company supplies more than half of all chickens sold for egg production in the four state region.

The buildings now under construction, as well as the newly completed ones at the ranch, are floor type houses with wood frames and steel coverings. Plans are now in the offing to build one more growing building in the area. The builder of the new construction is Ed Wike, Englewood.

It was a Saturday night in May of 1962 when a severe electrical storm swept across the ranch. A bolt of lightning apparently struck the north end of one of the chicken houses and the then wood, straw and plastic houses went up in smoke, destroying an estimated 24,000 chickens and eight structures at a total estimated loss of $72,000.

The ranch and surrounding roads were the scene of mad confusion as flames roared skyward from the 500 to 800-foot long chicken houses.

Fire fighting units from the county, the Air Force Academy, Stratton Meadows, Black Forest, Adams County and Knob Hill vainly battled to stem the flames while sheriff and Highway Patrol officials cleared the nearby roads of long lines of cars filled with curiosity seekers attracted by the lurid glare of the flames reflected from the storm clouds above.

Mrs. Elizabeth Nelson, wife of the present and then manager of the ranch, Arnold Nelson, suffered third degree burns while trying to beat out the flames at the time the fire started. She was treated by a Colorado physician who was summoned by authorities. The physician later aided several firemen who were momentarily overcome by the smoke.

The ranch is located on 440 acres of land most of which is pasture. There is a barn, residence home and garage on the premises.

Four Men Are Killed In Dynamite Blast

MEEKER, Colo. (AP) — Twenty-two sticks of dynamite exploded while four men worked on a flatbed truck preparing it for use in casing a northwestern Colorado oil well.

The blast "blew the men to pieces," undersheriff Bob Kracht said.

An oil company representative discovered the bodies Sunday. Kracht said the tragedy may have occurred either Friday or Saturday.

Strewn along the bank of Pinnacle Creek, 50 miles southwest of Meeker, were the 22 dynamite wrappers.

The man, all from Vernal, Utah, were Charles McConkie, 35, his son Duane, 16, Robert Hatch, 27, and Houtz Ross, 44.

NO SHUTOUT STEAK
NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Rangers of the National Hockey League once played 117 consecutive games without being shut out. The Rangers began the streak on Nov. 2, 1940 and were not blanked until December 31, 1942.

Boost of Japanese Aid Being Proposed

TOKYO (AP) — The chairman of the Development Assistance Committee thinks Japan should increase aid and soften terms to less developed nations.

Prof. Willard Throp told a news conference today that next to Italy aid terms given by Japan were the stiffest among the 12 industrialized nations of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development.

Throp noted that Japanese aid to less developed countries dropped from $371 million in 1961 to $265 million last year.

Plant Dedicated

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — South Korea has dedicated a new power plant that increases its power output by 30 per cent to more than half a million kilowatts, enough to meet current demand. The plant at Pusan was financed with a $20.9-million loan from the United States.

Firmness Pledged by Berlin Commandant

BERLIN (AP) — The new U.S. commandant in Berlin, Maj. Gen. John F. Franklin, arrived today and pledged that Americans will "continue to meet aggression with courage and firmness."

Franklin takes over on Aug. 31 from Maj. Gen. James H. Polk, promoted to command of the U.S. 5th Corps in West Germany.

Franklin said that "notwithstanding the ever-changing identity of persons who represent the United States here and elsewhere around the world our policy remains steadfast and sure in support of our friends and our ideals."
